REFLECTIVE MOODS — Hubbard Eric Newlin displays a wide range of feelings and emotions as he recounts the events of last Saturday night when he followed two men he suspected of robbery and was shot twice. NO HERO ROLE

Part In Two Bandits' Capture

By BILL ROBERTS

Maintaining that someone had to "get involved" and downplaying his own contribution to the capture of two suspected robbers, a San Anselmo youth says he would risk being shot again to help apprehend robbery suspects.

"I'm not really sad about the whole thing. If I knew I could have identified the men and if I knew I would only be hurt to the extent I am, I would do it again," Hubbard Eric Newlin told the Independent-Journal last night in his room at Marin General Hospital.

"I don't want to make myself out to be that great a hero," said the youth who supplied a license number of the getaway car used in a robbery Saturday night which helped lead to the capture of the fugitives. "I can't see myself walking on stage on television and saying, 'Hi. I'm a hero.' "

Known to his friends as Eric, the 17-year-old Sir Francis Drake High School senior went to pick up two friends who were working at Swensen's Ice Cream Parlor in Larkspur's Bon Air Shopping Center.

While waiting in his car for the friends, Newlin saw a man, acting suspiciously, leave the rear of the ice cream parlor. As he entered a waiting car and sped away with another man, Newlin decided to follow and get the license number of the car.

The men knew they were being followed, however, and cornered Newlin near the Hutchinson Quarry. Realizing he was in danger, Newlin began backing away from the car he had been following when one of the men jumped from it, firing two shots.

Newlin clearly remembers hearing both shots, seeing a flash as the gun fired, being shot first in the right chest and then having a second bullet crease his temple as he slumped to the seat.

"It didn't hurt. I wasn't in great pain. It wasn't like John Wayne in the movies when he staggers for miles after being shot," Newlin said, who lives at 134 Alden Avenue in San Anselmo.

"I didn't know about the gun or I probably would have slacked off earlier," he said. "Nobody wants to get shot."

But he remembers the event vividly and although first accounts said he wrote down the license of his attackers' car, he actually remembered the license and gave it to police verbally. "He jumped out of the car and my mind just took a picture," Newlin said.

After his attackers had fled and attempts to stop two passing cars failed, Newlin finally stopped a motorist and told him to call an ambulance. But fearing his attackers might return and wondering about the safety of friends who worked in the ice cream parlor, Newlin drove back to the shopping center with "a lot of blood sloshing around."

He sat on the sidewalk while

Nixon Will Release Memo On Dean Talk

Watergate Prosecutors Unconvinced About Tape

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (UPI) —The White House said today President Nixon would make available to the federal courts a memorandum he made of his conversations with former White House counsel John W. Dean III on April 15, 1972.

Presidential spokesman Gerald L. Warren said Nixon dictated a memorandum of his recollections of the meeting after the conversation took place and this record was still in existence.

Warren said he did not know whether a similar memorandum was made of the President's conversation with former Attorney General John N. Mitchell on June 30, 1972.

The conversations with Dean and Mitchell were the two which the White House announced earlier this week were missing from the nine taped Watergate-related conversations handed over to the U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica's court.

Warren said the President's personal memo would be discussed with Sirica by the President's lawyers and added, "I'm sure ways will be found to turn over that information."

Warren also denied that any tapes of presidential conversations had been altered, destroyed or hidden.

In a briefing, Warren said the President was giving no thought to resigning —a move suggested by several of his former congressional supporters.

"The President has no intention of resigning," Warren said. "The President has every intention of fulfilling the vitally important objectives he set for the nation and himself.

"In reference to the Watergate matter and special prosecutor, he wants to clear this up and not walk away from it."

Nixon, showing signs of tension from the continuing Watergate crisis, flew here abruptly yesterday for a weekend at his vacation home.

Meanwhile, in Washington, Watergate prosecutors said the White House had not proved that two of President Nixon's secret tapes never existed and they would conduct a complete investigation to find out what happened.

Richard Ben-Veniste, a lawyer for the Watergate special prosecution force, said at the opening of a third day of hearings on the tapes that the American people "expect and are entitled" to an explanation.

In order to answer questions about the missing tapes, the prosecution said it will call former White House Chief of Staff H. R. Haldeman, former Haldeman aide Larry Higby; assistant Atty. Gen. Henry E. Petersen, and Federal Aviation Administrator Alexander P. Butterfield, the man who revealed July 16 existence of the President's secret tapes.

Kalimos To Be Adviser To Seattle Dance Unit

Leon G. Kalimos, executive director of the Marin Veterans Memorial Building, has been hired as administrative director of Pacific Northwest Dance in Seattle.

Kalimos said today he accepted the job "as a consultant" and has no plans of leaving his $20,280 per year position with the county.

Early last month, the Independent-Journal reported Kalimos applied for the job in Seattle, following speculation he was planning to leave Marin.

Kalimos said at that time he had no plans to leave but that confusion had grown out of his being hired as a theatrical consultant to various groups and companies outside Marin.

His consulting job in Seattle will be to raise funds from public and private sources and to find a qualified full-time director for the new dance company.

Development plans for Pacific Northwest Dance call for establishment of a professional company and training school within four years.

LEON G. KALIMOS
Will moonlight

Kalimos said the job will be done through correspondence and not necessitate travel to Seattle.

County Administrator John F. Barrows, meanwhile, said he has asked Kalimos "for a full explanation" of the new position.

County ordinance requires employees to receive authorization to accept outside employment from their department heads and the county administrator.

Kalimos received his authorization July 5 from County Personnel Director Maren F. Rinne, even though he works under Barrows and Assistant County Administrator Thomas F. Campanella.

The authorization request was not routed through the county administrator's office.

Both Barrows and Campanella said today they were not aware Kalimos had accepted the consulting job, though Campanella said he knew the auditorium manager had applied for it.

Sharp Drop In Jobless Rate Told

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Unemployment dropped sharply last month from 4.8 to 4.5 per cent, the lowest jobless rate in more than 3½ years, the government announced today.

The Nixon administration's target was reducing joblessness to 4.5 per cent by the end of the year.

The October decline in unemployment was the sharpest drop since November, 1972, and ran counter to other economic statistics indicating that the nation's economy is slowing down.

However, the jobs report by the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said the average work week for rank-and-file workers declined by 12 minutes last month to 37 hours. The manufacturing work week also was 12 minutes shorter at 40.6 hours, but factory overtime was little changed at 3.7 hours per worker for the month.

Herbert Stein, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, said the sharp drop in the jobless rate, while good news for millions of wage earners, also showed that there was little extra room for economic growth by bringing more workers on to the production lines.

"It increases the importance of policies of fiscal and monetary restraint, to keep the expansion of economic activity to a sustainable rate, and help bring inflation under control," he said.

Stein said the unemployment

A PLAN FOR THE FUTURE

San Rafael Is Told To Face City Role

By NELS JOHNSON
(Fifth of six articles)

San Rafael, as the largest city in Marin and the county seat, must recognize its urbanity and intensify development of the downtown and Northgate areas, according to the city's initial general plan report.

"If employment is to be provided and retail sales are to increase then perhaps San Rafael should give up its popular rural image and plan to become what it is becoming anyway - a real urban center," declares the report in a preliminary analysis of the city's business environment.

"Downtown should develop first, a specialty-professional center. Northgate is to follow, as regional comparison shopping, large-scale entertainment and office center," according to the proposal. "Mass transit provision would provide easy access from all parts of the county to a complex of pedestrian ways, malls, plazas and interconnecting people movers."

In addition, the report recommends that the San Rafael Canal be treated as part of the central business district, perhaps as a recreational area, through a long-range program designed to convert the channel and adjacent areas into a community asset.

In light of a high degree of seismic risk involved in canalside development "it would be an extremely costly mistake, both in terms of public safety and public expenditures, to permit the continued existence of high intensity land uses adjacent to the canal," the report states. A long term conversion program should be geared to making the canal primarily a water-oriented recreational and open space area, the city consultants recommend.

The method proposed for eliminating the extensive apartment houses, single-family homes and commercial development that constitute "high intensity land uses" is the purchase of property "as it becomes available and as the useful life of the structures ends."

No cost estimate of the program is provided.

The conversion program, which might be hastened if an earthquake levels the area, should receive special study as part of the city's redevelopment program, and should include phasing out present canal uses, including possible relocation of the Montecito shopping center in the Dominican area, the report says.

Citywide business goals listed by the report include enabling local residents to live and work in the same community; providing a wide range of occupations at all pay levels; broadening the city tax base; providing community services and making new industrial and commer-

Talk Grows On Renewal Of Fighting; Secret Sadat Talks

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Talk of possible renewal of the Middle East War increased today in Cairo, Baghdad and Tel Aviv. President Anwar Sadat was disclosed to have held secret talks with his key backers in the October conflict and Arab commentators said he appeared to be laying careful groundwork for such a possibility.

With both the Arabs and Israelis hardening their diplomatic positions, Egypt reimposed its blackout while Sadat conferred with Syrian President Hafez Assad, who was allied with him in the October fighting, and with the rulers of Kuwait and Saudi Arabia who largely financed the effort.

The Baghdad government newspaper Al Thawra said all attempts at a peaceful settlement of the Arab-Israeli conflict are doomed to failure. There were similar statements from Southern Yemen which has been helping blockade the entrance to the Gulf of Suez against Israeli shipping.

Mohammed Hassanein Heikal, influential editor of the semiofficial Egyptian newspaper Al Ahram and a confidante of President Anwar Sadat, said a resumption of the Arab-Israeli conflict was more likely than a Middle East peace conference.

In Tel Aviv, Lt. Gen. Haim Bar-Lev, former chief of staff of the Israeli armed forces, said in an interview with the newspaper Ma'ariv that Egypt might try to renew the war but that Egypt had no chance because Israeli forces inside Egypt are sitting on that country's soft belly.

In Washington, Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir told a news conference after talks with President Nixon that the cease-fire line in Egypt should be negotiated by the two countries and that "Israel feels there will have to be a redistribution of forces on each side."

She said Israel has given first priority to an exchange of prisoners of war and said Israel would not unilaterally withdraw to the Oct. 22 lines. Egypt has said there would be no exchange or peace talks until Israel does withdraw.

Egyptian officials today re-

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Protest Violence

BELFAST (UPI) — Roman Catholics threw blazing barricades across the streets of Belfast's Lower Falls district today to protest a day of Northern Ireland violence in which two men were killed and 27 persons wounded.

The barricades burned for hours, set afire by bitter Catholics angered by an upsurge of bomb and bullet attacks yesterday in Belfast. "They are in the grip of fear," a policeman said.

In the day's worst attack, a massive bomb — estimated at between 200 and 400 pounds — demolished the Avenue Bar in downtown Belfast, killing a Catholic pensioner and injuring 16 other persons, five of them seriously.

S. Viet Deaths

SAIGON (UPI) — Three land mines and a shelling killed four civilians and wounded 17 others, the South Vietnamese command reported today.

For the first time since the Jan. 28 cease-fire and perhaps for the first time since a late 1969 siege, shelling was reported within three miles of the former U.S. Special Forces camp at Bu Prang, 112 miles northeast of Saigon.

Gas Price Hike

OTTAWA (UPI) — Oil and gasoline prices in eastern Canada will rise an average two cents a gallon, and the export tax on Canadian oil shipments to the United States will be more than quadrupled, Energy Minister Donald MacDonald announced yesterday.

MacDonald said the measures were necessary to insure Canadian supplies this winter in the "uncertain" situation arising from the Middle East War.

"Security of supply is now our major concern," he said.

Village Falls

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Rebel troops today captured a lightly defended government town only four miles north of Phnom Penh, the second village to fall to the guerrillas in three days.

Earlier, government spokesman Col. Am Rong said Cambodian government units trapped a rebel force on a road near the coast yesterday and killed 55 of the insurgents in a heavy battle. Government casualties were 12 killed and 50 wounded.

Cancels Visit

BONN (UPI) — U.S. Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger has canceled his visit next week to West Germany for domestic reasons, not because of the recent rift between Bonn and Washington, a Defense Ministry spokesman said today.

The spokesman said Schlesinger had written West German Defense Minister Georg Leber asking for a postponement because, Schlesinger said, he could not be out of the United States as the same time as Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

Plots Smashed

LA PAZ, Bolivia (UPI) — Two conspiracies against the Bolivian government have been smashed and the conspirators arrested, Interior Minister Col. Water Castro said yesterday.

Castro, who heads the Bolivian police, said one of the subversive plots was rightist. He said one plotter arrested was identified as former army Maj. Elias Belmonte, member of the opposition National Action Movement.

He did not identify the political leaning of the second revolutionary movement, although observers said the names of persons identified suggested that it was of moderate leftist tendency.

Priest To Prison

BIRMINGHAM, England (UPI) — A Roman Catholic priest was sentenced yesterday to 12 years in prison for being what prosecutors called the "evil genius" behind an Irish Republican Army bomb plot.

A Crown Court judge said Father Patrick Fell, 32, the assistant priest at All Souls Church in Coventry, was the most responsible of four men sent to jail for preparing "a recipe for destruction."

Missing Tapes Of Top Interest To New Watergate Prosecutor

HOUSTON (UPI) —Newly appointed special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski, who says he'll begin his investigation where his predecessor Archibald Cox left off, plans to look into the matter of the missing presidential tapes before anything else.

"I plan to go to the tapes matter first," Jaworski said yesterday. "I didn't even know until just now which particular ones are missing. I tell you frankly that that wasn't discussed (Wednesday when I was asked to take the job)."

Jaworski, a veteran trial lawyer, conservative Texas Democrat and former president of the American Bar Association, said he will begin work in Washington Monday.

Jaworski said he hopes to be able to use Cox's files and added he would talk to Cox.

"I will want to use what Cox did," Jaworski said. "I know Mr. Cox. He is a highly capable, efficient gentleman. I will continue where Mr. Cox left off.

"I will want to talk to him. I will undertake to talk to him. I think he'll be helpful to my investigation."

At his news conference last week, Nixon said the new Watergate prosecutor would not be allowed access to Presidential documents. But Jaworski said he has been guaranteed complete independence, possibly more than given Cox when he first assumed the post.

"There are no restraints on what I'll be permitted to do," he said. "I am not prevented from doing anything that I think needs doing.

"If I feel I need some material that I don't have, I will request it," he said. "I am not precluded from taking any action I deem necessary to get whatever evidence I need."

Jaworski said he was sounded out about the job as Watergate prosecutor three weeks before Cox accepted the job. He said he was not definitely offered the position but said the way in which the job was outlined made him tell administration officials he would not be interested in it if it were offered.

"I did not think at the time the independence was there that is there now," he said. "The discussion (Wednesday) convinced me that I can proceed without any restraint. And I am convinced I can and I will so remain convinced until something comes along that will cause me to change my mind."

He said if a confrontation should arise between him and the President, they have agreed to turn the disagreement over to the chairmen of the House and Senate judiciary committees for a settlement.

"But I was assured there would be no restraints of any kind," he said.

Senate Democrats Still Seeking Own Prosecutor

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Watergate investigation could conceivably wind up with two special prosecutors, one working for President Nixon and one empowered by Congress.

Although Acting Attorney General Robert H. Bork promised yesterday that newly named prosecutor Leon Jaworski would have "full cooperation of the executive branch" and "no restrictions on his freedom," Senate Democrats maintained their drive for legislation setting up a prosecution force divorced from the administration.

Bork said Jaworski would have power to sign his own indictments and take legal action to get necessary presidential documents.

"We believed their promises before," said Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III, D-Ill. "I won't believe them again. Congress has been burned once already."

The Democrats asked their leader, Mike Mansfield, to consult with Republican leader Hugh Scott to work out a bipartisan bill to that effect.

The most popular proposal in the Senate is a bill by Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., with 55 cosponsors, that would direct Chief U.S. District Judge John Sirica to appoint a special prosecutor responsible only to the court.

"We would be naive, we would be foolish, we would be derelict in our duty" if the legislation were not passed, Stevenson said.

Many Republicans, however, prefer that the special prosecutor named by Nixon receive Senate confirmation.

Sen. Roman Hruska, R-Neb., urged delay of hearings on the prosecutor bill until Congress can see how Jaworski performs.

Nixon said in appointing Jaworski that he would consult with the joint congressional leadership and ranking members of both judiciary committees before dismissing him.

"But consultation really doesn't mean very much," said Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass. "It means you're going to get notified when he's going to be fired."

Inmate Now Says Women Guards Good

Inmate Larrance Hand has decided those female guards at San Quentin Prison aren't so bad after all.

In March Hand sued the state Department of Corrections on grounds the new female guards constituted cruel and unusual punishment.

And the first of the new guards, Wilma Schneider, really upset him. The inmate said she was "an almost exact duplicate of (my) wife."

The court threw out his complaint.

But Hand, serving a sentence for rape, sex perversion and kidnap, has changed his tune.

"I can now sincerely say they (the women guards) are a credit to the staff and place no threat to anyone on either side of the bars," he wrote in a letter to the San Quentin News.

Hand added, "I feel it is only fair to express my views after the eight months since 'Willie' Schneider broke the ice and became the first female guard at San Quentin."

In his suit the convict also complained about having the women correctional officers observing him tending his biological needs.

On this count, Hand told the prison newspaper, "although I have some reservations about a lady supervising a shower area or giving a skin search, I welcome them to work in all other areas of our city."

Asked whether the five women correctional officers at San Quentin actually are conducting skin searches and supervising inmates' showers, prison information officer William D. Nyberg today tersely replied:

"No way."

Petaluman Dies In Highway 17 Crash

A Petaluma man, who worked as a coroner's investigator, was killed early today when his car struck a concrete railing on Highway 17, just east of the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge.

The California Highway Patrol said Ell D. Chase, 45, of 225 Kentucky Street, was eastbound on the road about 4:30 a.m. when his auto crashed into the rail. Officers had no other details of the accident.

Chase was an investigator for the Alameda County Coroner's office.

Survivors include his wife, Deena.

Bicycles Stolen

Two bicycles, valued at $90, were taken between 5 p.m. Wednesday and 8 a.m. yesterday from the home of Milton C. Woods at 654 Woodbine Avenue, San Rafael. The bicycles belonged to J. C. Harrow of 585 Woodbine Avenue, San Rafael police reported.

Secret Campaign Fund Is Revealed

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (UPI) —A national Republican organizatio known as the "Townhouse operation" secretly gave $185,000 to the 1970 campaign of Sen. J. Glenn Beall, R-Md., the Anne Arundel County state's attorney's office reported yesterday. But prosecutors say it was handled in accordance with then existing state laws.

Anne Arundel Prosecutor Warren Duckett said Beall "complied with the spirit of Maryland law as it existed in 1970." New laws on the Maryland books now require reporting of all out-of state contributions to the state elections board.

28 Are Injured In Train Crash

CHICAGO (UPI) — Two Chicago Transit Authority trains with more than 60 persons aboard each crashed at midnight yesterday in suburban Evanston.

At least 28 persons were injured, but none seriously, authorities said.

A CTA spokesman said both trains were traveling southbound. One of the trains stopped south of a CTA station and the second crashed into the first car, he said.

others called police and an ambulance and was soon in the Marin General Hospital emergency room after the shooting.

"What do you bid dad," Newlin quotes his son as saying. "Think you can go $251. They got $250 at Swensen's. Think you can top that?"

The elder Newlin maintains it has been his son's sense of humor which has carried his family through the ordeal. But the youth needs to revise his asking price as police reports now indicate about $350 was nabbed in the theft.

"If they had for instance killed me and someone else had identified them they would have gone to prison for life for a lousy $250," the youth said matter-of-factly.

According to police, it was the license plate number and description of the men supplied by Newlin which led to their arrest after they abandoned their car and later reported to police it had been stolen.

Newlin spent three days in the intensive care unit of the hospital as blood was drained from a collapsed lung. The husky youth who smiles often and gestures wildly with his hands has lost 18 pounds while in the hospital but his only concern seems the large number of X-rays which have been taken.

"I think they're starting a photo album of me," he said.

He does have a fan club as he has won the hearts of hospital staff and has received letters from many people he had not known before the shooting. His friends report his exploit has been a subject of discussion in high school and college government and civics classes and the owner of a liquor store where he works part time in the stockroom has promised him a lifetime job if he chooses.

A motorcycle enthusiast who might have been on his bike Saturday night had the engine not been under repair, Newlin also likes photography and has "a million friends" according to his father.

His head wound was slight, according to Newlin, and will only require that he wear a hat when he returns to school so that his friends won't "make a big deal about" the shaved portion of his scalp.

And doctors determined that the bullet in his chest is better left where it is rather than cutting away much muscle to remove it. "Whenever I get on a plane I'll set off the metal detector," Newlin said.

Newlin has praise for the thoroughness of Larkspur police in their investigation even though he describes one of their interviews with him as a "growl session."

Concern over the expense of Newlin's injuries have taken a back seat to his return to full health. Hospital officials indicate family insurance will probably pay most of his hospital bills amounting to $1,614.10 through last night (but not including additional doctor's fees).

A $41 bill for the towing and storage of the youth's car at a Ross garage will probably be paid by police because the car was stored and inspected for evidence, according to Larkspur Police Chief Howard H. Clark.

And if there are any additional bills, Ernest C. Zunino, Marin chief deputy district attorney, noted that victims of crimes are eligible for reimbursement of expenses from the state up to $5,000.

But bills, police reports, hospital treatment and interviews are not at the forefront of Newlin's thinking.

He anticipates leaving the hospital tomorrow and returning to class Monday. He worries that friends at school "won't give me a minute rest."

jected her proposal for any troop redistribution and said Egypt is not prepared to give up any military positions it now holds on its own mainland west of the Suez Canal. They reaffirmed that the first priority must be Israeli withdrawal, thus freeing the trapped 3rd Egyptian Army.

Despite the firm statements by Israeli and Egyptian leaders, dispatches from Suez City reported there was growing cooperation between Israeli and Egyptian soldiers manning the truce lines. But observers said this appeared to be more an escape from boredom than anything else —Israeli and Egyptian forces clashed on the east bank of the canal yesterday.

While war talk grew in Cairo, Sadat met secretly at Kuwait airport yesterday with President Assad, the other main combatant in the 18- day October conflict.

Agency To Revive Bay Area Plans

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Bay Conservation and Development Commission decided yesterday to spend up to three years revising its 1968 basic plan and goals for regulating the San Francisco Bay and shoreline.

The commission staff said the plan, once a model of land and water use planning for other agencies, already is outdated.

A revised plan would incorporate new concepts of population growth, recreational demands, transportation objectives and information about environmental protection.

William D. Evers, commission chairman, asked for citizen participation in the revision process. He said the public in the past has played a forceful role in bay conservation.

TAPES

Buzhardt, who presented two Secret Service Agents and a White House historian yesterday to describe why the tapes did not exist, asked the court to recess until Monday to allow him time to prepare his case.

But Chief U. S. District Judge John J. Sirica said he could "see no reason why" the hearing could not continue today.

The tapes in question were of a late night conversation between Nixon and former White House counsel John W. Dean III on April 15, 1973, shortly before Dean was fired, and a four-minute telephone conversation in 1972 between Nixon and his former campaign chief, John N. Mitchell.

Ben-Veniste said there was "no proof" that the Nixon-Mitchell conversation took place on an unbugged telephone as the White House claims and "no testimony under oath" when it was discovered the two tapes did not exist.

"We believe that a complete inquiry to solicit all of the facts ... is mandated," Ben-Veniste said. "The grand jury expects and is entitled to this and we believe the American people represented by the grand jury are entitled to a complete professional explanation of this matter."

He said he might put Buzhardt on the stand since the White House has acknowledged that Buzhardt listened to at least one of the tapes —for March 20 of this year —on Nixon's request.

Buzhardt said the Nixon-Dean conversation, held in the President's Executive Office Building office, was not recorded on the White House taping system because of an equipment malfunction which caused the tape to run out.

He said the telephone discussion between Nixon and Mitchell on June 20, 1972, three days after the Watergate break-in was not available because the phone used by Nixon was in his residential quarters and not connected to the taping system.

Report Of Razor Blade In Apple

An 8-year-old boy reported yesterday that someone gave him an apple with a razor blade in it while he was trick or treating Wednesday, police said today.

The boy said he received the deadly treat from a home on Spruce Road in Fairfax, but was unable to lead officers to the residence.

Police never saw the apple. The boy told officers he had thrown it away.

Accident Victim Is Satisfactory

A Tiburon woman was reported in satisfactory condition today at Marin General Hospital with a head injury, cuts, scrapes and bruises received in a single car accident early today on Tiburon Boulevard.

The California Highway Patrol said Eileen C. Mize, 26, of 49 Lyford Drive, was eastbound on the boulevard, west of Bay Vista Circle, when she apparently fell asleep at the wheel. A witness said her small foreign car crashed into a guard rail about 1 a.m.

PLAN

cial development compatible with the existing environment.

To meet these goals, the report proposes a concept of "business preserves," or areas reserved primarily for business activities.

Proposed preserves, and recommendations for their development are:

DOWNTOWN — Recommends a well-defined, pedestrian-oriented "compact" downtown with small-scale shops and businesses. Development, including possible intensive residential development, should to held to a four or five-story height limit. Residential development should be accompanied by a program to eliminate the automobile downtown. Redevelopment of the canal is also proposed.

NORTHGATE — Recommends unifying the area with intensive development from a hub at Highway 101 and the Freitas Parkway, bridging the freeway and linking the shopping mall with the Civic Center and Northgate Industrial Park. "New structures should link the three centers, replacing barren parking lots with pedestrian plazas and open spaces ... With underground and structure-enclosed parking facilities, 'people movers' will provide for local movement. Residential structures will be built for those who are attracted to a new automobile-free life style."

NORTHERN INDUSTRIAL — Recommends that this largely undeveloped area, located between Highway 101 and the railroad tracks near St. Vincent's School for Boys, be developed in the "distant" future with clustered industrial parks sited around a looped access road. Future development might also include relocation of East San Rafael auto sales facilities to an auto sales park in the northern industrial preserve.

SAN RAFAEL ENTRYWAY — Recommends that the entryway preserve, located on undeveloped lands south of the Highway 17 approach to the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge, be developed with a single-structure office development requiring few ancillary services, sited at the toe of the slope.

EXISTING INDUSTRIAL — Recommends that this preserve, located in a broad area surrounding the interchange of Highways 101 and 17, be subjected to a detailed economic and design study, aimed ar redesigning the area and relocating businesses along the canal and near the San Rafael entryway preserve.

NEIGHBORHOOD SHOPPING CENTERS — Recommends that the city establish local, service-oriented shopping centers off North San Pedro Road in Santa Venetia; on the McNear's Quarry site as part of residential development in Peacock Gap; in East San Rafael and in the Dominican area, if Montecito shopping center is relocated; and small convenience shops in Los Ranchitos and along Lucas Valley Road.

In a brief study of "commercial strips" in San Rafael, the report recommends retaining local convenience shopping facilities along the Miracle Mile and Lincoln Avenue, and the phasing out of other uses.

The report also recommends creation of "development corporations" to attract business to the city and development of "specific plans" for each preserve.

Important Telephone Corrections

The Novato Chamber of Commerce advised yesterday that an "urgent correction" be made in the Novato Shoppers Guide and Business Directory recently distributed to households in Novato.

Correction "could be a matter of life and death," since the emergency telephone numbers for ambulance service on Page 2 are wrong, reported secretary-manager Billie Garl.

Residents who need an ambulance should call 472-2155, the Marin County Communications Center, instead of the telephone numbers in the directory, she said.

The telephone number listed on Page 2 for the Novato Chamber of Commerce office also is wrong. The chamber number is 897-1164.

rate for males over 20 years old is at a record peacetime low, and that the jobless rate for women 25 years and over is about as low as it has ever been in a nonwar economy.

At the same time, the proportion of the civilian working age population holding jobs is the highest since World War II, Stein said.

The 4.5 per cent jobless rate in October was the lowest in 43 months, since the 4.4 per cent rate of March, 1970. In the interim, unemployment got as high as 6.1 per cent on three different occasions in 1970 and 1971 before a downward trend began in the middle of last year.

The BLS said the number of jobless persons declined by 210,000 in October to 4.1 million, while the number of jobholders increased by 570,000 to 85.7 million. The BLS said total employment has increased by 3.2 million persons over the past year.

The biggest dip in unemployment last month was among white collar and service workers, while adult men made up more than half the higher employment statistics.

The jobless rate for adult men dropped from 3.1 to 2.9 per cent last month, while the rate for adult women declined from 4.8 to 4.4 per cent. Unemployment among teen-agers showed little change at 13.9 per cent.

Joblessness among black workers dipped from 9.4 to 8.3 per cent, while the rate for all white workers changed little at 4.1 per cent.

The BLS said unemployment among factory workers fell from 4.2 to 3.7 per cent, the lowest rate in that category since the end of 1969.

Average hourly earnings for rank-and-file workers rose last month by 0.8 per cent, while weekly earnings went up 0.2 per cent.

Unlawful Entry Charge Is Filed

A misdemeanor charge of unlawfully entering private property was filed yesterday against Thomas Lawrence O'Neil, 19, of San Rafael, originally arrested on suspicion of burglary.

San Rafael police said they found O'Neil yesterday in the vicinity of Kentucky Fried Chicken on Second Street. The restaurant had been broken into, officers said.

Only Incumbents Show For Marin City Round

By PAUL LIBERATORE

Recreation and redevelopment plans in Marin City were the principal topics last night of three candidates for the community services district board in Tuesday's election.

The candidates' night was sponsored by the League of Women Voters in Southern Marin.

Speaking to an audience of about 20 persons at Manzanita Center were incumbents Rogers Jones, 72; Ernest Small Sr., 71, and Thelma McKinney, who declined to give her age.

Absent were challengers Gussie Blakey, John Grayson and Lonnie James Roberts. A seventh candidate, Matthew Williams, has dropped from the race, it was announced. Roberts sent a written campaign statement.

The three incumbents agreed that not enough money is furnished by Marin County to enable the district to expand and properly supervise its community recreation program.

The district asked the county for $90,000 in operating money this year. Supervisors, attempting to void duplication of recreational services, allocated $39,100 for the district and $11,300 for the Marin City Boys' Club and ordered the two groups to work out a joint recreation program.

Also discussed was the community's lack of involvement in planning redevelopment in Marin City, specifically 138 middle-income townhouse dwellings on the Marin City Ridgeline.

"People should be allowed to live on the hill regardless of their income," said Mrs. McKinney, who called for about 25 per cent of all new housing to be built for low and moderate income families.

Mrs. McKinney, a legal secretary who lives at 30 Pacheco Street, pledged to seek funds aggressively from Marin County, state and federal sources and by participating in local fund-raising projects and by renting district property.

She told the Independent-Journal that she is willing to discuss a joint recreation plan with the boys' club, but maintained her opposition to relinquishing the district's primary function, which is to provide recreation. A resident of Marin City for 25 years, she was appointed director last year.

Jones, a retired mason and a one-year director, was strongly critical of redevelopment plans. He also called for the reestablishment of the project area committee.

A member of the county housing authority board and a former member of the Marin City Council, Jones, a 30-year Marin City resident who lives at 49 Cole Drive, cited his record of public service, especially in representing public housing tenants.

Small, a retired construction worker, said recreation must be the district's highest budget priority. he said he favors a cooperative program with the boys' club.

He demanded that low-income families be given first priority for any new housing and opposed an access road to Tamalpais Valley if its only function would be to allow the rich to come and go without contact with the poor.

Small, of 174 Cole Drive, was appointed a director a year ago with Jones and Mrs. McKinney.

In his statement, Roberts, 34, of 720 Drake Avenue, sharply criticized the present board, saying poor management practices caused community apathy.

Roberts, a mechanic with the Marin Municipal Water District, charged that present directors represent special interests and urged that the boys' club take over the community recreation program.

Mrs. Blakey and John Grayson failed to return information on their campaign to the Independent-Journal and could not be reached by telephone for comment.

Israeli Prisoner Release Demanded

LONDON (UPI) —Jewish demonstrators in 16 cars encircled the Egyptian embassy in the fashionable Mayfair section of London today, using loudspeakers to demand the names of all Israeli prisoners of war held by the Arabs.

A police spokesman said the demonstration lasted for about an hour and there were no incidents.

Walk Set Sunday By Tiburon Group

The Tiburon Parks and Recreation Commission is holding a walk at Blackie's Pasture and other proposed Tiburon parklands Sunday at 9 a.m.

Commission Chairman R. Gary Gray said the walk will begin at the pasture and include inspection of the Belveron minipark site and a combination driving-walking tour of the Trestle Glen Park and the Tiburon ridgelines.

Judge Decides To Drop Robbery Case

A Folsom Prison inmate, now serving a long sentence for three liquor store robberies, will not stand trial in Marin County on a charge of taking $165 at gunpoint from a Novato liquor store.

Judge Robert A. Smallman dismissed the armed robbery count after a witness placed 29-year-old Israel Whittaker elsewhere on Feb. 8, the night of the robbery.

The witness, a San Rafael woman, said Whittaker spent the evening at her home.

Smallman said he didn't believe the woman's testimony but had no choice but to dismiss the charge after Deputy Dist. Atty. Peter Evans said he didn't think a lie detector test would be of value.

Whittaker was charged with going into Warden's Liquors, ordering a bottle from clerk Frank R. Silva, then pulling a gun.

Evans said Whittaker is serving 40 years to life on three other liquor store robberies in which the same method of operation was used.

Transit Boss Rides New Train

ORLEANS, France (UPI) — U.S. Secretary of Transportation Claude Brinegar rode on a new French train which moves on air cushions and is powered by a jet engine rather than a propeller yesterday. The "French Aerotrain" went 233 miles an hour and Brinegar said the ride was "very good."

Brinegar had arrived from Turkey, where he represented President Nixon during ceremonies marking the Turkish Republic's 50th anniversary.

STATUE UNVEILED

A massive bronze statue of Britain's revered wartime leader, Sir Winston Churchill, was unveiled by his widow, Lady Clementine, and Queen Elizabeth II yesterday near Parliament, where he had some of his finest hours. The 20-foot-high monument was done by British sculptor Ivor Trevor-Jones. (UPI Telephoto)

Bridge Board Asks For Study Of Ways To Fight Congestion

Study of staggered work hours and days, and increased car pooling, was asked yesterday by a committee of Golden Gate Bridge District directors.

Congestion is growing both at district bus stops and on Highway 101, and the high cost of adding new buses requires other steps as well to relieve traffic, the transportation committee agreed.

The study was asked by Dean N. Meyer of Mill Valley and San Francisco Supervisor Peter Tamaras. No mention was made of new regulations by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency that will impose surcharges on commuters who refuse to use either transit or car pools.

If the present average of 1.3 passengers per car could be increased by only one-tenth of a passenger "we'd be out of the woods," according to Gen. Mgr. Dale W. Luehring. This would mean a shift of 2,000 commuters to car pools, he said.

Bridge board president Stephan C. Leonoudakis observed this would be equivalent to the capacity of 50 buses, and Marin County Supervisor Michael Wornum noted it also was the same number of commuters one ferryboat could carry.

Luehring reported the vehicle count southbound across the bridge between 6 and 10 a.m. exceeded 21,000 twice this week — for the first time since the district bus fleet started rolling in January, 1972. The average had been down to about 19,000 in past months.

The Golden Gate Bridge District's transportation committee also:

RICHMOND — Asked the staff to report as soon as possible on plans for a one-year test of commuter bus service across the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge to the Bay Area Rapid Transit District station in Richmond.

RECREATION — Endorsed a two-year, $400,000 study of how to provide public transportation to and within the Golden Gate National Recreation Area. No district funds will be involved in the study by nine federal, state and local governmental agencies.

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — Karleton L. Armstrong today began serving a 23-year prison sentence for the 1970 bombing of a University of Wisconsin building in which a researcher was killed.

Cause Behind Hotel's Collapse

NEW YORK (UPI) —The collapse of the old Broadway Central Hotel last August in which four persons died was caused by a weakened support wall that had not been repaired, according to the Department of Buildings.

The department's report released yesterday said the hotel had received 63 building violations citations since 1913 and had 39 fires in the last three and a half years.

According to the report, the building suffered from rotting beams due to old age and water damage but were not repaired.

Keating Will Chair Centennial Panel

The San Rafael Centennial Committee yesterday unanimously elected Marin Superior Court Judge Thomas F. Keating as its chairman.

The committee, charged with planning and promoting the city's 100th anniversary observance next year, also named Jean Kelly to head the group's program committee; Irving Chapman as budget and finance committee chairman, and Bryce W. Anderson as promotion and public relations committee chairman.

Judge Keating and other committee chairmen will also sit on a centennial executive committee, the group decided.

The committee said the city's centennial celebration will be held during the week of May 20 through 26, although other activities may stretch throughout the year.

Program committee chairman Jean Kelly said activities during the week might include concerts downtown and in the Northgate shopping center, a musical produced by San Rafael school children, a regatta on the San Rafael Canal, a Centennial ball and parade.

MARIN NEEDS WATER
IN THE SUMMER TIME

The beauty of Marin County has been supported and developed by the application of plentiful fresh water. Your trees, gardens, shrubs and flowers depend on water.

Every aspect of the pleasure of living in Marin has been benefited by plentiful fresh water. The beauty that attracted you here, and the scenery that makes you love the county; has water as its supporting basis.

Every winter, billions of gallons of water go to waste down our rivers and streams causing floods, erosion, damage to man's works and general destruction. It is COMMON SENSE to capture and store this water, and pipe it to our homes in summer - this is the simplest, cheapest, most practical way to get PURE FRESH WATER.

Don't let the ecology-extremists rob you of your heritage -

Vote YES for WATER

The mistaken and impractical ecology-extremists would have us deny the use of water to others and the use of abundant fresh water on our plants & flowers. They want us to re-cycle sewage effluent into our water system - At a cost TEN TIMES as much as our present source.

No re-cycling system can get out all of the impurities in water. These re-cycled impurities would be introduced into your drinking water - Its the only water system we have.

This could imperil your health, and the future of your children -

DON'T LET THE EXTREMISTS DESTROY OUR GOOD WATER SYSTEM

HER BAG IS THE SACK

It's not easy to let this cat — Peppermint Patty — out of the bag. She likes it, according to owner Kathy Salyer of Spokane, who sometimes has to share a grocery sack with her pet. "The problem is she wants the sack placed right where I sit," Mrs. Salyer complained.

Ford Answers Senate Questions Earnestly

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Gerald R. Ford said he had nothing to hide. He earnestly detailed the cost of his son's orthodontistry and how he came to afford a condominium at the ski resort of Vail, Colo. on a congressman's salary.

The House Republican Leader's apparent eagerness to answer all questions—and his pledge to serve as "ready conciliator and calm communicator" between a warring president and Congress—helped Ford weather his first day yesterday of congressional scrutiny on his fitness to serve as vice president. The questioning was mild and laced with compliments.

Lacking scandal, the nationally televised hearing before the Senate Rules Committee failed to attain the degree of drama which the Senate Watergate committee often has had, and by mid-afternoon half the seats were vacant, a phenomenon that never occurs before Sen. Sam J. Ervin's Watergate sessions.

Ford's responses raised no apparent obstacle to his swift confirmation, possibly by Thanksgiving.

But he will be called back Monday to explain further his relationship with former lobbyist Robert Winter-Berger, who has sworn he gave Ford $15,000 that was never repaid—a charge Ford called "asinine" and "utterly preposterous."

In questioning, Ford appeared to put some distance between himself and President Nixon on key Watergate questions. Unlike Nixon, for example, he said a president is subject to court orders. Nixon has argued a chief executive, as co-equal, can ignore the courts.

Ford also said he would have revealed the non-existence of two Watergate tapes "at a much earlier date."

He praised Nixon's choice of attorney general and special prosecutor and opposed the strong moves in Congress to turn over to Judge John J. Sirica authority to name the special prosecutor.

Ford called himself fiscally conservative, domestically moderate and an internationalist on foreign policy.

He protested mildly that "my views are not as conservative as might have been implied" but he did not argue when Committee Chairman Howard Cannon, D-Nev., said Ford had an "unbroken record of favoring big business during four years in the House."

Cannon called Ford the most thoroughly investigated nominee in history. Some 350 FBI agents and investigators from the Internal Revenue Service, the Government Accounting Office and Congress have accumulated 1,700 pages of data on his personal and political life.

Ford said he would, if required, yield to a suggestion from Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., and make public his tax returns for the last seven years.

BART Trains Will Make First San Francisco Runs Tomorrow

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The nation's newest subway transit system, a space age marvel that doesn't work quite right, rolls under the streets of San Francisco for the first time tomorrow.

Thousands are expected to mob seven modern underground stations for festivities and free rides when the first sleek, 75-mile-an hour train officially connects the downtown financial district with suburban Daly City, seven miles away.

The $1.5 billion Bay Area Rapid Transit (BART) system, the nation's largest locally financed mass transit system, is already operating on 56 miles of underground and surface tracks on the other side of San Francisco Bay.

But the trains so far have been subject to unpredictable delays and the cars themselves, designed especially for the system, have bugs, too. The most unnerving is the occasional mysterious opening of sliding doors, sometimes at 75 miles an hour.

Officials have whipped up holiday style festivities for the official passage of the first train under the city. Dancers, beauty queens and even clergymen with formal blessings will greet the train at each station.

Downtown businessmen will bedeck the Powell Street station with flowers and banjo bands, bagpipe bands and mariachi bands, singers and folk dancers will entertain in eight separate ceremonies as the train passes. The public will be offered free rides to the nearest station and back, and regular service on the route will begin Monday.

Crusade Raises Over $8 Million

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — More than $8 million has been raised so far in this year's United Bay Area Crusade, according to the latest campaign report.

This year's goal is $17.5 million and Crusade officials said that the $8,013,134 raised so far puts the campaign about 10 per cent ahead of last year's pace.

The event was among highlights of "Spirit Week" at the school which ends tonight with a homecoming football game against Terra Linda High School.

Cartoon Spurs Call For Awareness Aide

The Novato Unified School District's human awareness committee last night recommended that the district hire a fulltime human awareness coordinator who would encourage understanding among people.

The request came in the wake of charges that a racist cartoon appeared in the Sinaloa Junior High School student newspaper Oct. 24.

About 25 to 30 persons appeared at the meeting to protest the cartoon which showed a man with black arms and nose moving into a cave in prehistoric times and saying to neighbors "Ello Der, I's Yore New Neighbor."

The neighbor comments, "Everytime one of them moves in the property value drops two rocks."

School officials expressed regret about the cartoon and "talked about what could be done to see that it doesn't happen again," Asst. Supt. Paul C. Mobley reported.

The committee wants a coordinator who would work with students and teachers on human awareness, "people getting along with people," Mobley said.

As proposed, the coordinator would have a teaching credential and would receive a salary equivalent to his or her place on the salary schedule, plus 20 per cent, he said.

The request is scheduled to be before the district board at its next meeting at 8 p.m. Nov. 13 at Novato High School Lecture Hall.

Key Ballot Issue — Russian River Water

On Tuesday, voters in the Marin Municipal Water District will decide whether the district should spend $7.5 million to import Russian River water to the county. Eligible voters number 91,254.

The controversial bond issue would finance the second stage of a four-part pipeline which would eventually run from Terra Linda to the river and cost approximately $40 million.

Stage one, the North Marin intertie between Hamilton Air Force Base and Highway 37, was approved by voters in 1970, but has never been built.

The part of the project on the ballot is a pipeline from Hamilton to Freitas Parkway in Terra Linda. It would include pumps and storage facilities.

Stage three, which the district could not construct without another bond issue, is a $16 million pipe from Novato to Cotati. The fourth stage, from Cotati to the Russian River would hook the district's lines directly to the river and would also require a bond election.

Until the district is linked to the river, it would have to contract for water from the North Marin County Water District and Sonoma County Water Agency which are already tied to the river source.

The amount of water which will be available if Measure E is passed has been the subject of continuing dispute.

Marin Municipal officials say they will contract for no more than 8,000 acre-feet a year if the bonds are approved for construction of the second stage, and for no more than 13,400 acre-feet ultimately if voters later approve completion of the third and fourth stages. The latter amount is calculated as needed to serve the population growth by 1980 allowed by the county general plan.

Critics, however, point out that the pipeline planned will be large enough to deliver 20 million gallons a day or 22,000 acre-feet a year.

To this district officials reply that until the fourth stage is built, connecting Marin Municipal directly to the Russian River, the North Marin Water District and Sonoma Water Agency will provide water only during the eight months September through April. And in order to get 13,400 acre feet annually after the third stage is completed it will be necessary to have a 22,000 acre-foot rate of flow during those eight months.

After the fourth phase is completed, even though delivery of 22,000 acre-feet would be possible, the district could not import that amount because of the tremendous storage facilities that would have to be built in Marin. "We wouldn't have any place to put it," Gen. Mgr. William R. Seeger has said. To take in that amount, the district would have to expand its existing pipelines, reservoirs, storage tanks and treatment facilities, according to Seeger.

Even after the system is completed and hooked into the Russian River, there will be times when the district will draw that at the 22,000-acre-foot rate of flow in the summer to meet peak demands.

Supporters of Measure E point out that the district currently has a moratorium on new connections because it is already drawing more water from its reservoirs annually that safety will permit.

If the bond issue fails, they say the connection ban will continue and bring economic disaster to the county.

Opponents argue that, while the current board has agreed to contract for only 8,000 acre-feet of water a year during the first and second stages if the bond measure is passed, there is no guarantee that future boards would hold to that. Some believe that the district should seek water sources within Marin. Diversion of Walker Creek in West Marin into a reservoir is mentioned as a possible alternative, although consultants studying that proposal have said it would cause serious environmental damage.

To date, the water district board has not endorsed Measure E, although the Marin Board of Supervisors has asked district directors to do so.

$200,000 Drive Set For A Boys' Club

A drive to raise $200,000 for a Boys' Club in San Rafael will be launched Monday by the Central Marin Boys' Clubs, according to Joseph A. Gereghty, boys' club board member.

Later the boys' clubs plans to raise another $300,000 for clubs in Fairfax, San Anselmo, Larkspur and Tiburon, he said.

Businessmen and community organizations will be solicited for funds, Gereghty said. The clubs also will solicit funds from foundations, he said.

The Plumbing, Heating and Electrical Union will give $1,000 to the building fund if the clubs can get about 100 boys to clean up an area in San Rafael on Nov. 17, he said. The area will be selected by Sgt. Gerald A. Green of the San Rafael police department.

The clubs now have $1,800 in the building fund, $1,200 of which was raised in a boxing card Oct. 19 at the College of Marin, sponsored jointly by the boys's clubs and the Jaycees, Gereghty said.

Sled Dog Racing Lecture Topic

A Novato couple and a Corte Madera veterinarian will show a film and discuss sled dog racing for the next session of a lecture series on veterinary science, 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Novato High School.

Speakers will be Robert and Bella Leversen, nationally known sled dog enthusiasts, and Corray Cherston, who interned in veterinary medicine in Minnesota and raced his dogs there.

The series of free veterinary programs is sponsored by the 4-H, County farm adivser, Marin Animal Medical Care Foundation and Marin County Veterinary Medical Association.

Film On Flora, Fauna Set Sunday

A film documenting flora and fauna from Mexico to Alaska will be presented by the Marin Audubon Society at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in Olney Hall at the College of Marin in Kentfield.

Nature photographer Walter H. Berlet, who made "West Side Story — Mexico to Alaska," will narrate, according to Richard May of the society.

Welfare Waste Attack Planned

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Reagan administration plans to launch a "second step" in its welfare reform program to eliminate more than $44 million in bureaucratic waste and recipient "errors."

The administration also said it was abandoning a controversial 19-page form which welfare recipients for aid to families with dependent children had to complete before they could receive benefits.

The old form, introduced only 13 months ago, will be replaced by a combination of two forms, a welfare department spokesman said yesterday.

Philippine Fuel Saving Ordered

MANILA (UPI) —The Philippine government today ordered a series of measures, including auto driving limits and mandatory daylight saving time, in a bid to conserve fuel.

President Ferdinand E. Marcos also ordered the printing of ration cards and the updating of the membership list of the country's 41,000 citizens' assemblies which might be used as outlets if rationing becomes necessary.

The action came in the face of an oil shortage aggravated by the Middle East war. The oil shortage has already forced gasoline stations to limit their sales and some public transportion to cutback service.

Passport Order For Cary Grants

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —A court yesterday ordered Cary Grant and his former wife, actress Dyan Cannon, to exchange a gift each New Year's Day — their daughter's passport.

Grant and Miss Cannon have waged a long legal battle over the custody and upbringing of their daughter, Jennifer, 7.

Miss Cannon has custody of the child, but Grant has liberal visiting privileges. To settle a dispute over custody of her passport—needed for the child to join either parent on foreign film locations—Superior Court Judge Jack Swink ruled yesterday that Grant should have possession of the passport in even numbered years, and turn it over to Miss Cannon in odd numbered years.

JOHN R. CASAUDOUMECQ
Receives eagle rank

San Rafael Scout Gets Eagle Rank

John R. Casaudoumecq of Troop 21, San Rafael, has been awarded the rank of eagle scout in a court of honor held at the Marin School of Ballet.

John, 14, has been a scout for six years. He has been assistant patrol leader, patrol leader, senior patrol leader and scribe. He now is in the Leadership Corps.

He was named outstanding camper during the week he was at Marin Sierra Scout Camp in 1971. He is a member of the Order of the Arrow and has passed a scout lifeguard test.

His eagle project was being den leader for Pack 36 of Webeloes for two years. The pack was without an adult leader, and could not find one so John took over.

He is a freshman at St. Ignatius High School in San Francisco.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond B. Casaudoumecq of 14 Rafael Drive, San Rafael.

Coordinator For Energy Panel Picked

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke yesterday appointd Wesley C. Bruer, former state egologist, as coordinator for the state's new Energy Planning Council.

Reinecke, chariman of the council, said Burer's first task will be to deal with the state's role in the federal government's new mandatory allocation program for diesel and jet fuels, heating oils and kerosene.

"We must do everything we can in state government to soften the effects of this federal action," Reinecke told a news conference.

"We face possible cutbacks in agriculture, transportation and home heating, and we must work to see that the limited supplies of fuels go where they are most needed," he said.

Bruer, also former state oil and gas supervisor, has established a federal-state fuel supply coordination center in Sacramento to handle inquiries from users of the affected fuels. The federal program went into effect today.

Reinecke said that under the new federal program, the state can recommend that adjustments be made in distribution of fuel to wholesale purchasers.

Film Showing

The 1956 movie "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" with Marilyn Monroe, Jane Russell, Charles Coburn and Elliott Reid will be shown at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 12 at the Marin Jewish Community Center in San Rafael.

Who Says This Stuff is Fair-Traded?*

*Fair-trade – it's like milk being the same price in every store. Well, so are Sansuis (usually).

How to Get a Sansui Receiver for Half Price

You can get the Sansui 1000X AM/FM stereo receiver at half price when you buy it as part of this fine system. Usually it goes for $329.95, but here's a chance to get it for a mere $164.97. The 1000X has as complete an array of controls as you're ever likely to need, including two tape monitoring circuits, FM muting, a loudness contour to increase bass at lower listening levels, and a high filter to eliminate annoying tape hiss. You get 56 watts (RMS) of power too, more than enough for most listening rooms.

We're also including the BSR 510A automatic record player. The low-friction tonearm, the steady speed synchronous motor, and the adjustable anti-skating control make it an excellent value for just $69.45. And that price includes a base and a Shure M75ECS elliptical cartridge.

$394.32 This System Price

Quadraflex 44's are a fine finish to this low-priced system. They're two-way, ten-inch systems that can produce room-shaking volume without breakup. They're engineered to avoid the "boxy" sound found in many bookshelf systems, and the bass speaker can handle the lowest notes on just about any record. How's that for only $159.90 a pair?

$164.97 for the 1000X
in complete systems ranging from $299 to $476.

Sony's Best at $30 Below Their Price

If you agree that Sony cassette decks are pretty impressive, and if you're interested in buying one of the best ones around, consider the TC-161SD. It has a dual capstan drive system which keeps wow and flutter at insignificant levels, and the ferrite head gives the deck an excellent frequency response. Making good recordings is a snap too because of the Dolby noise reduction system, convenient slide controls and dual VU meters. For this week only, you can knock $30 off the original fair-trade price of this great cassette deck.

$299.95 Save $30

A Lot of Music for $79

Sony's CF-200A is both an AM/FM radio and a cassette recorder. You can record directly off the air or "live" with the built-in condenser microphone, and the telescoping FM antenna increases the number of stations you can listen to. This week it's going for $79.95 instead of the usual $109.95.

$79.95 Save $30

Record Player Sale

GOOD....and Save $54

The Dual 1218 is very close to the superb 1229 in terms of features and design sophistication, and it will give your records the same gentle treatment. The current fair-trade price of the 1218 is $180.50; we're able to include an $8.95 base and a $34.95 Shure M91ED cartridge with it this week, and the package price is just $169.50.

BETTER....and Save $65

BSR's 810 incorporates an ingenious sequential cam mechanism which gives it an unusually quiet and smooth record-changing action. BSR's price for it, with the wood base and a dust cover, is $205; we're selling this combination plus the ADC XLM cartridge (a $39.95 item) for just $179.95.

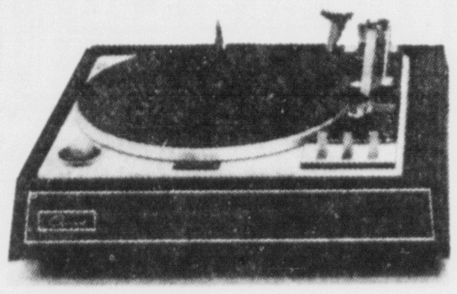
BEST....and Save $79



The Garrard Zero 100 is the only automatic record player around that eliminates tracking error and the resultant distortion; a unique articulated tonearm is the key to its success. Our price for the Zero 100 with a $6.95 base and the $72.50 Shure V-15 Type III is $199.95; Garrard's price for the Zero 100 alone.

Cartridge Sale Too

Shure's M91ED is an excellent elliptical cartridge that should satisfy critical listeners. Our regular $34.95 is already well below Shure's price; come in this week and get it for the lowest price we've ever offered on this cartridge.

$23 Save $11.95

If you're looking for a cartridge with a slightly flatter frequency response and the ability to track at really light pressures, consider the ADC XLM. ADC advertises it for an unbelieveably low $50, and our regular price is just $39.95.

You won't regret starting off with this new record player from BSR – the 260A. It has a full-sized platter, along with a cueing lever and an anti-skating control. The price on the 260A is only $44.45, and that's including a base and a Shure M81 magnetic cartridge.

The Audio Design 806's are two-way systems with an 8-inch bass speaker. They sell for $79.90 a pair, and deliver the kind of clear, natural-sounding bass lines that you can't get just by turning up the bass control on your portable.

To purchase these components separately, you would pay $274.30, but during this week's sale you can save over $75.

A Double Helping Of TV Football

The toughest sports reporting job of the week will be falling on the shoulders of Channel 5's Barry Tompkins Sunday. He'll be anchor man for the 1 o'clock double feature originating at two sites — Oakland Coliseum and Tiger Stadium in Detroit.

When the television blackout was lifted in Oakland because of the Raiders' sellout against the New York Giants, CBS, which was all set to pipe the picture back to New York and leave the Bay Area fans with the 49ers-Lions game on the CBS network, was faced with a dilemma. Which game to show?

In a move to make both sides of the Bay happy, CBS top brass decided to show both games at the same time. And then the word came down from the CBS New York head office: Okay, Barry, you can do the job.

I don't envy Mr. Tompkins. It's tough enough keeping on top of one game; but two? And with the burden of all the advance publicity, Tompkins is being put in a pressure situation. But he is a very capable young man and I am confident he can do the job.

There will be a lot of switching back and forth as most of the plays of both games will be shown. Some of them might be delayed a few seconds on your screen. Some of the plays will have to be described by Tompkins on audio while video is dealing with the other game. So you might be watching Ken Stabler completing a pass while listening to Tompkins talking about Ken Willard gaining three yards.

"There will be extensive use of tape slow-motion video replays," Tompkins said, "and it will be live unless two things happen at the same time, then one will be shown slightly delayed. Basically, we'll cover it like a golf tournament."

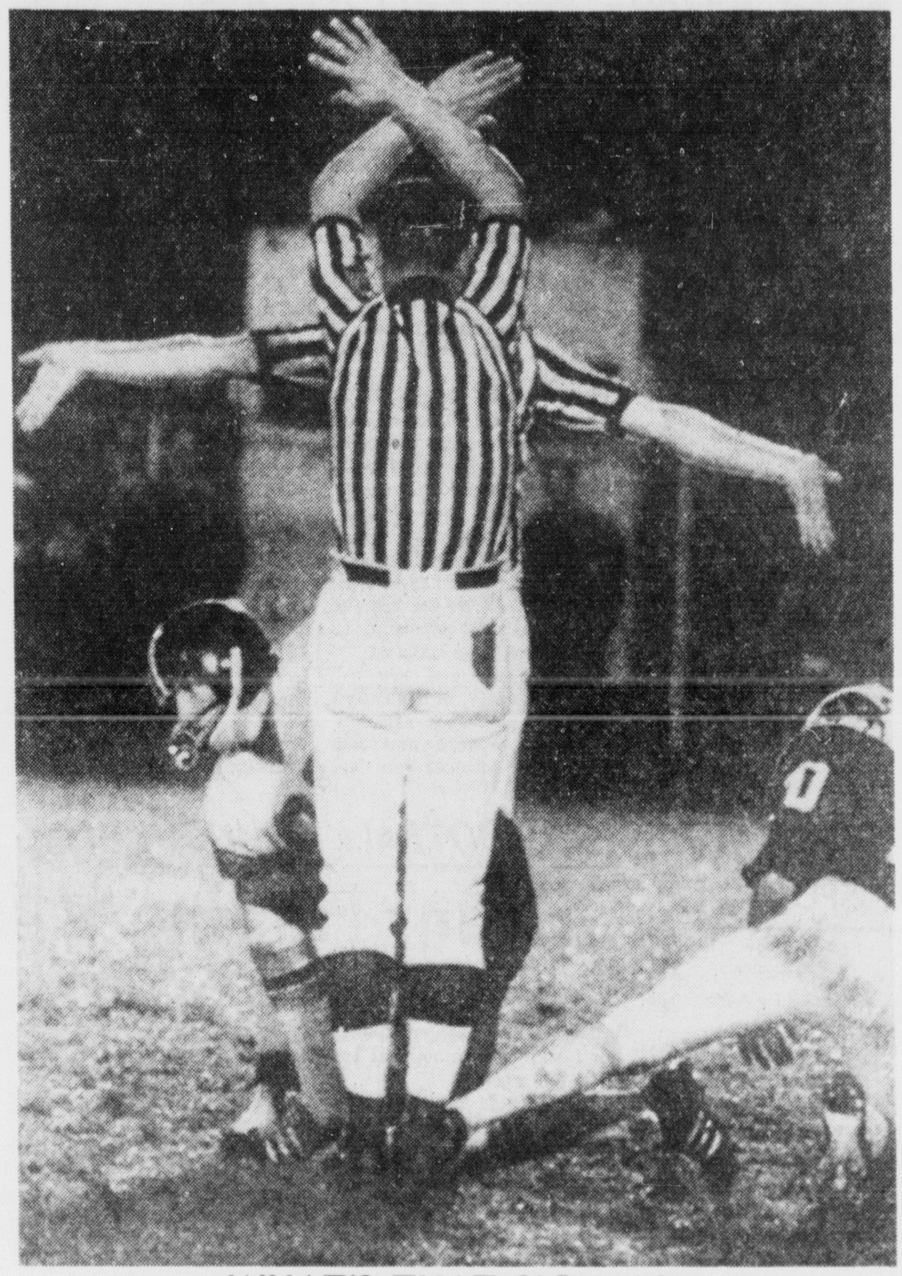
Producer Bill Fitts will pick one of the games as the primary contest, but if one of the games gets too lopsided, the cameras will be spending more time with the other one.

If you have color television it won't be too bad, since the Raiders' home jerseys are black and the Lions wear light blue. The 49ers and Giants wear the customary white when on the road.

I am surprised that CBS, which calls all the shots at football games (such as when there will be timeouts for commercials) didn't assume all control of both games. Equipped with earphones and walkie-talkies, television directors could be down on each field, in direct communication with each other as well as the officials. They would be able to direct the start of each play so they would alternate from site to site. ("Okay, you guys. It's your turn to run a play; but hurry up, you've got only eight seconds!")

If it was successful, the television people could think of enlarging the format to include simultaneous telecast of three, four or even a half dozen games. The possibilities are limitless. With the right direction and control, television could split up the games and put on a Sunday gala production — the simultaneous telecast of the entire 12-game Sunday schedule! And if Barry does a good job Sunday I'll nominate him to be the Super Sunday anchorman.

13-YEAR-OLD ROBB WATKINS of Novato will be more concerned with his own ability than simultaneous telecasts at the Raider-Giant game. He will be competing in the area Punt, Pass and Kick competition Sunday in the Oakland Coliseum. He qualified for the area competition by winning local, zone and district competition. If he wins his age group Sunday he qualifies for the division competition Dec. 15 in Miami. Winners there go to the Super Bowl Jan. 13 in the Houston Astrodome.



WHAT'S THAT SIGNAL?

A's Andrews Gone; Medical Bills Stay

Finley To Pay Doctor

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (UPI)— Oakland A's owner Charles O. Finley maintains that second baseman Mike Andrews was injured when he suspended him during the World Series.

To prove it, Finley pledged yesterday to pay for Andrews' medical care even though he is no longer with the club.

See other Andrews story, page 16.

Speaking to a luncheon yesterday of the Alexandria Grandstand Managers, Finley contended once again that dropping Andrews had nothing to do with the player making two errors in the second game of the series.

Andrews complained he was forced to sign a medical statement proclaiming him unfit to play when in fact he was healthy.

"I told Andrews he didn't have to sign that orthopedic statement, Finley said, "I simply thought it would show the commissioner that everything was on the level."

Finley was fined $5,000 by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn for the Andrews incident and $2,000 for other misconduct during the series.

"Andrews needs surgery or medical help," Finley said, "even though he isn't with the (Oakland) organization, I have promised to have the club pay for sending him to the greatest orthopedic surgeon in the country."

Andrews, who admits he made a mistake in signing the medical release, was placed on waivers yesterday and was not claimed.

Finley told the gathering of about 100 persons that he would like to keep manager Dick Williams, who quit after the series.

Rookie Shows He Can Score Against Seals

ATLANTA (UPI) — Young Tom Lysiak, a rookie with tremendous potential, just couldn't score for the Atlanta Flames during their first eight games. But he wasn't overly concerned.

"The guys knew the time would come when I would score. I knew the time would come,", he said. "I wasn't worried."

Lysiak's time came last night in the Flames' 7-2 waltz over the California Golden Seals before 13,480 fans. He streaked in alone and fired a shot past Gilles Meloche for his first National Hockey League goal.

The crowd gave him a standing ovation.

"Now he knows he can score. The pressure's off," said Atlanta Coach Bernie Geoffrion.

Lysiak, 20, Atlanta's top choice in the NHL amateur draft last May, also had two assists.

"To me he has to be the best rookie to come up in the National Hockey League since Gilbert Perreault of Buffalo," said Geoffrion. "He's got all the moves. He's a playmaker but he's got a hell of a shot. This kid is just a fantastic hockey player."

Golfer Crenshaw Uses 'Eye, Feel'

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — Young Ben Crenshaw pitted his "eye and feel" technique today against a group of seasoned veterans attempting to wrest away his one-stroke lead in the $125,000 Texas Open Golf tournament.

Crenshaw, a former University of Texas star who was medalist in the last three National Collegiate Athletic Association Golf tournaments, fired a six-under-par 65 yesterday in the first round over the 6,900-yard, par 71 Woodlake Golf Club Course in his first outing since receiving his Professional Golfers Association card.

"It's good to start out with a good round, but there's still three days to play," Crenshaw said.

The late-finishing Crenshaw nosed out veterans Peter Brown of Los Angeles and Bruce Fleischer of Miami who both shot 66.

"Ohs" and "Aws" resounded through the large Crenshaw gallery, including a group of pretty girls wearing UT burnt orange and calling themselves "Ben's Boosters," when his final score was posted.

"I like to play by eye and feel," the smiling Crenshaw said. "That's how I've always done it."

Asked if he felt the pressure more from the pros than he did from the collegians, Crenshaw quickly answered "no."

On the second to last hole, the 21-year-old golfer dropped his best putt of the day, cooly rolling in a 60-foot birdie on the 206yard par three eight hole. He said he was "kind of fortunate" to get his six birdies with no bogey.

Charles Coody, a Texan now playing out of Poplar, Fla., was alone at 67, while John Schroeder, Bill Evans, Orville Moody and George Archer stayed close with 68s.

Rod Funseth, John Mahaffey, Bunky Henry, Mike Reasor and Steven Melnyk ended the day with two-under-par 69s, while defending Texas open champion Mike Hill and Napa's Ron Cerrudo finished among 24 golfers with one-under-par 70s.

A total of 45 golfers shot par or better the first day. The lowest 70 players will be cut at the end of today's play.

Boston Tilt Begins Warrior Road Trip

BOSTON (UPI)—The Golden State Warriors limped into Massachusetts today to launch a three-game road trip.

With only eight healthy players, the Warriors tackle the Boston Celtics tonight at Boston Garden. Then it's on to Buffalo and Kansas City tomorrow and Sunday.

Against the Celtics, the Warriors will be facing one of the runningest teams in the National Basketball Association.

"The whole key against them is to play defense," said Warriors forward Rick Barry. "If we get the rebounds and play defense, we can run and also stop them from running."

Barry said key injuries have slowed the Warriors to a 4-3 mark in the Pacific Division after an unbeaten exhibition season.

"Injuries have been a factor," he added. "When everyone comes back, we should be a good basketball team."

Still sidelined with injuries are center George Johnson, forward Joe Ellis and guard Charlie Johnson. Only Charlie Johnson, suffering from back muscle spasms, made the trip East with the squad.

Raiders' Madden Isn't Taking Giants Lightly

OAKLAND (UPI) — "They might be only 1-5-1 but all those upsets last week prove that you can't take anyone lightly."

That was John Madden, coach of the 4-2-1 Oakland Raiders, talking about Sunday's invasion of the New York Giants. It will mark the first battle between the two clubs.

"It's deceiving if you just look at their record," added Madden. "They've had a tough schedule. Their losses were to Green Bay, Dallas, Washington, Cleveland and St. Louis."

What's more perplexing was that the Giants went through six exhibition games without a loss. They won their 1973 opener over Houston and then tied with Philadelphia before going on a five-game loss skid.

"We'll have to get back on the right track this week," said All Pro defensive end Jack Gregory. "If not, it'll be disastrous."

Madden is impressed by the Giants' defense, which ranks fourth in the National Football Conference.

IN PREP FOOTBALL RACE

Drake, Terra Linda Set A Battle For Survival

It's starting to get a little crowded near the top of the standings, so Terra Linda and Drake high schools will try to push each other off when they meet tonight at 8 o'clock at San Rafael High.

Both teams have 2-1 Marin County Athletic League football records, tied with Novato and half a step behind Redwood (3-1) with just three weeks left in the season.

They approach the game with similar philosophies, built around defense, ball-control, field position and exploitation of breaks.

Their only difference, in fact, appears to be in the directions in which they are heading. Terra Linda(4-3 overall) has won four of its last five games, including a 20-6 non-league conquest of Sonoma last week. Drake (3-4 overall) has lost twice since its big upset of Novato, and last week was drilled by San Rafael, 32-6.

For the first time in three weeks, Terra Linda will be able to use running back Cam Leith, the MCAL's sixth-ranked ball carrier, who had been out with a shoulder injury. Linebacker Larry Buttner is out for the year with microfractures of the vertebrae, however, and tackle Dave Pulver is questionable with a bad ankle.

Kent Yamagata will start at linebacker for Buttner and also at offensive center. Pulver will be replaced by Doug Scollon at offensive tackle and Tom Larkey at defensive tackle. Greg Marioni will handle Larkey's offensive guard spot. Mike Dennis has won the left cornerback job.

Drake is healthy for the contest, and has made one defensive change, installing 200-pound Cragi Marquis at nose (middle) guard and moving George Pedersen (180) back to right linebacker, "to get another big kid up front to stop 'em from running inside," according to coach Dean Lazzarini.

Probable starting lineups:

SAN RAFAEL TOMORROW

Novato To Host The Spoiler

The parallels between this year and last year are inescapable as San Rafael High School prepares to visit Novato for a key Marin County Athletic League football game at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow.

(The contest originally was scheduled for 12:30 p.m., but was changed after San Marin and Marin Catholic moved their game, originally set for Novato at 3 p.m., to Marin Catholic.)

Parallel No. 1 is that San Rafael again enters the contest with the MCAL's best offense (288 yards a game), and Novato again has the best defense (144 yards).

Parallel No. 2 is that the game is again crucial to the title hopes of the Hornets (2-1), while San Rafael (2-2) is cast in the spoiler role.

Parallel No. 3 is what Novato coach Al Scott hopes to prevent. Last year, San Rafael pulled off a 7-6 upset and knocked the Hornets out of the race.

The Hornets plan to mix up defenses against San Rafael in an effort to stop the Bulldogs' triple-threat offense, which can offer fullback Steve D'Ambra up the middle, halfback Craig Saunders outside, and quarterback Dave Steele over the top with a pass. Scott will counter with 5-3-3, 5-2-4 and 6-5 alignments, depending on the situation.

One Novato offensive lineup change will see Guy Armstrong starting at center. The running back situation remains in flux, with Wayne Smith running hard in scrimmage to join Les Nicolini, Mark Magers, Mark Reagan, Ken Ferrari and Kevin O'Reilly as potential ball carriers during the game.

San Rafael coach Bob Muster will start Mike Farris for the flu-besieged Nelson Moore at wide receiver, and has awarded the other running back spot to Rick Wright on the strength of his hard running the late stages of a 32-6 win over Drake last week.

"The kids are starting to jell a little bit," warns Muster. It's good timing, since the Bulldogs must contend with a defensive unit which has notched two straight shutouts, including a big one last week, 12-0 over Redwood.

QB Brodie Starts Vs. Lions Sunday

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Steve Spurrier, the designated quarterback of the future for the San Francisco 49ers, won't start Sunday's game in Detroit against the Lions.

John Brodie, who says he will retire after completing his 17th pro season, yesterday was named as the starter by Coach Dick Nolan. Spurrier has started the last two games for San Francisco but in both cases Brodie finished.

Nolan figures Brodie is more familiar with the tricky air currents at Tiger Stadium. Like at unfinished Candlestick Park, they make passing difficult.

In another personnel change, Nolan said he will use Ralph McGill at free safety in place of Mike Simpson. Offensive tackle Cas Banaszak sustained a bruised muscle above his right knee during practice Wednesday and may have to give way to John Watson with Randy Biesler replacing Watson at left guard.

Nolan said he isn't happy about the weather reports coming from Detroit. It has been raining there most of the week and the forecast is for showers at Tiger Stadium Sunday.

The 49er coach figures to beat the Lions with a superior passing attack but Nolan knows that rain will cause him to change his plans. And on the ground, the 49ers rank No. 8 among the 13 teams in the National Football Conference. Detroit is fourth.

Sharon Walsh Loses Match

EDINBURGH (UPI) — Tournament favorite Virginia Wade of Great Britain clobbered Sharon Walsh of San Rafael yesterday, 6-0, 6-3, in the women's singles quarter-finals of the Dewar Cup Indoor Tennis Tournament.

Also advancing to the women's semis were Britain's Sue Mappin and Americans Julie Heldman and Marita Redondo. Miss Mappin, who had been left out of the tournament until she, Miss Heldman and some other players protested last week, defeated Californian Ann Kiyomura, 6-7, 7-6, 6-4.

Britain's John Feaver overwhelmed second-seeded Australian Owen Davidson, 6-4, 6-2. Other men reaching the semis were American Bob Kreiss and top-seeded Briton Roger Taylor.

Campion Breaks Swimming Mark

Maura Campion clipped almost three seconds off her listed national high school record for the 100-yard butterfly yesterday while leading Terra Linda to a 59-54 Marin County Athletic League girls swimming victory over visiting Marin Catholic.

Miss Campion swam the event in 1:00.4, bettering her mark of 1:03.2. She also swam a leg of the 200 freestyle relay team which set an MCAL record of 1:50.2 in the meet-deciding event. Jan and Bonnie Borcherding and Cyndi Salvisberg also swam the relay.

In another meet, Tamalpais defeated host San Domenico (0-5), 66-45, to join Terra Linda and Marin Catholic with 3-2 records behind Novato's league-leading 0-5.

GOLF NOTES

Gapinski Wins Club Title Again

Nancy Gapinski has a strangelhold on the San Geronimo National Golf Club women's club championship.

The seven handicapper notched her eighth club crown Sunday when she finished with a three-round total of 259. The 1971 Marin County Women's Tournament of Champions winner wound up seven strokes ahead of runnerup Virginia May, Indian Valley titlest. Twenty women competed in the championship flight.

BOB HACHMYER and Jack Machado face R. O. Anderson and his son Dale, while Jerry Lake and Ed Pater confront Al De Lucas and Jerry Gransee in the semi-final round Sunday at 7 a.m. in the Indian Valley Rosehill golf Tournament.

Semi-final survivors meet in the championship Nov. 11 at 7:02 a.m. in best ball match play for two-man teams.

In the consolation championship Sunday at 7:16 a.m., Bill Schoenfeld and Ed Patterson meet Art Sears and Harold Gilmore.

LAST YEAR'S Marin Country Club champion Mike Jermane Saturday shot an eagle on his home Novato course in a very unusual way. He skied his tee shot on the par-4, 354-yard 17th hole and the ball went perhaps 75 yards. Knowing he couldn't reach the green with any of his fairway woods, Jermane used his driver from the fairway and swung away. The ball hit in front of the green and rolled right into the cup. Amazed witnesses were University of San Francisco basketball coach Bob Gaillard and Ray Clem.

South Africa In Davis Cup Play

Combined AP & UPI

PARIS — The Davis Cup Committee ruled yesterday that South African tennis squads could continue competing in the international event.

The ruling, which rejected an Argentine complaint against South Africa's apartheid policy, came on day after South Africa granted for the first time an entry visa to American black tennis star Arthur Ashe.

Argentina announced earlier this year its Davis Cup team would not play against the South Africans regardless of the site of the match. W. Harcourt Woods, Davis Cup Committee president, said there would be no penalty for teams refusing to play against South Africa except forfeiture of the match.

PARIS — Top-seeded Ilie Nastase of Romania yesterday advanced to the quarter-finals of the French Open Indoor Tennis Championships, beating Paolo Bertolucci of Italy 6-2, 6-2 while Frenchman Jean Baptiste eliminated Tom Gorman of Seattle 6-4, 6-4.

JAKARTA — Top-seeded Australian John Newcombe yesterday defeated Mexico's Marcello Lara 6-2, 6-2 and advanced to the semifinals in the Jakarta Open Tennis Tournament.

NEW YORK — Professional Golfers Association champion JackNicklaus and U.S. Open titlist Johnny Miller were named yesterday to represent the United States in the 21st annual World Cup and International Trophy Golf Championship at Marbella, Spain Nov. 22-25.

SYDNEY — American Jim Colbert took a one-stroke lead with an eight-under-par 138 over Australian Stewart Ginn today in the second round of the $75,000 Chrysler Classic at the Lakes Course. First round leader Lee Trevino was in third place despite a one-under-par 72 to go with his first round 68.

Bowling

AKRON, Ohio — The top three bowlers padded their leads this past week in the Professional Bowlers Association earnings list.

Don McCune of Munster, Ind., continues to lead with $66,100, although he won only $525 for a 21st place finish in the Painesville (Ohio) Open last week. Barry Asher of Costa Mesa, Calif., in second place, earned $950 to give him $55,886. Third-place Dick Ritger of Harford, Wis., pocketed $1,300 to boost him to $43,343.

Baseball

DAYTON, Ohio — Chicago Cubs third baseman Ron Santo yesterday won the 1973 Lou Gehrig Memorial Award, given by Phi Delta Theta fraternity in memory of the New York Yankee Hall of Famer.

NHL Power Structure Changing

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

From one end of the rink to the other, the puck has been skidding in some strange directions in the National Hockey League.

Although the season is less than a month old, there have been some definite signs that the power structure is shifting from the old guard to some of the newer clubs. How else do you explain such phenomena as the New York Rangers and Chicago Black Hawks struggling along in the second division of their respective divisions?

The Philadelphia Flyers, intent on ending Chicago's three-year reign as Western Division champion, registered a 1-0 victory over the Black Hawks last night to run their record to 7-3.

Meanwhile, the Atlanta Flames, only a second-year club, trounced the California Golden Seals 7-2 to remain in second place in the West, three points behind Philadelphia and one point in front of the Los Angeles Kings, who edged the Rangers 2-1.

With Pittsburgh, which was idle, holding fourth place, this means that three of the top four spots in the West currently are filled by clubs that failed to qualify for the playoffs last season. Chicago, which went as far as the final round of the Stanley Cup playoffs, is fifth with only two victories in nine outings.

In the East Division, the Rangers, who were supposed to battle Montreal and Boston for the No. 1 spot, had their winless streak extended to six games with the loss at Los Angeles. The Rangers, in sixth place, already are seven points behind the front-running Bruins.

In the other game last night, the Toronto Maple Leafs, another surprise team, rallied for two goals in the final period to gain a 2-2 tie against the New York Islanders.

Bill Barber scored on a 50-foot shot at 17:34 of the opening period and goalie Bernie Parent protected that margin the rest of the way to give the Flyers their key victory over Chicago.

Dan Maloney's first goal of the season just 15 seconds into the second period gave Los Angeles its margin of victory over the Rangers.

Inge Hammarstrom and Garry Monahan scored for Toronto in the final period to offset earlier goals by the Islanders' Ernie Hicke and Eddie Westfall.

Laver Ousts Gerken In Hong Kong Tennis

HONG KONG (UPI) — Top-seeded Rod Laver eliminated eighth-seeded Paul Gerken of the U.S., 7-6, 6-2, to enter the semifinals tonight of the Victory Tennis Classic.

Charles Pasarell of Puerto Rico scored his second upset victory in two days when he ousted seventh-seeded Paul Ramirez of Mexico 6-2, 7-6. The unseeded Pasarell, only American to reach the semifinals, surprised second-seeded Vijay Amrithraj of India with a straight set victory on Wednesday.

AFTER BEING WAIVED BY A'S

Andrews Not Crying This Time

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Grown men aren't supposed to cry, but Mike Andrews couldn't help himself.

The tears simply came, forming at first around the corners of his eyes and then spilling over his lids and tumbling down his cheeks.

This happened following the second game of the World Series, after Mike Andrews signed a statement saying he had a shoulder disablement and it dawned upon him all at once he would have to leave the Oakland A's and there really was no other place for him to go but home.

Mike Andrews did not shed any tears yesterday however when word reached him at his Peabody, Mass., home that he had gone unclaimed on waivers and that the A's had released him nconditionally.

It does not mean his major league career is over by any means.

What it does mean is that the ball clubs are exercising simple economy.

Had any club claimed the 29-year-old second baseman after the A's had asked waivers on him for the purpose of granting him his unconditional release, Andrews could have been obtained for one dollar.

The club which claimed him though would have had to negotiate with him on the basis of the better-than-$40,000 salary he was drawing from Oakland.

Now it's a brand new ball game, and oddly, in this case it works out to Mike Andrews' advantage because any club wishing his services can deal with him from scratch following a five-day waiting period.

As purely a guess, I'd have to say Mike Andrews will be playing some place in the big leagues next year.

If I had to guess further, I'd take a shot that he could be getting his mail with the New York Yankees next summer.

I know this much for a fact:

Only one person felt worse than Mike Andrews when Oakland owner Charlie Finley let him go after those two errors against the Mets that cost the A's the second game of the Series.

That person was Dick Williams, the A's manager who first ran into Andrews when he piloted Toronto of the International League and now has had him with three different clubs—Toronto, Boston and Oakland.

"To me," says Dick Williams, "Mike Andrews is a bear-down sunuvagun. I don't know any ballplayer with more heart or substance."

That isn't too bad an endorsement for a young man who batted only .200 this year playing in a total of 70 games with the White Sox and A's. It becomes an even greater testimonial when you bear in mind Andrews was only fourfor-21, which comes to .190, in 18 games for Oakland.

At the moment, Dick Williams is in the same boat as Mike Andrews.

Both are unemployed.

I'm still betting Dick Williams winds up managing the Yankees, and I wouldn't fall over in a dead faint if Mike Andrews, by one of those sheer coincidences, moves over to the Yanks also.

Maybe some of Charlie Finley's players were trying to tell him something after Andrews was let go that first time during the Series.

On the bus to the airport that evening, they kept chanting, "Where's Mike? Where's Mike?"

They knew where he was, all right. They also knew why.

Right now, Mike Andrews is back home resting and relaxing, trying his best to put some of the unpleasantness out of his mind.

I think he has the right idea. I'm going to rest and relax myself for a month in Mexico, and I'm pretty sure that when I get back things are bound to look much better for a couple of guys who used to be members of the Oakland A's two weeks ago, but no longer are.

PRO FOOTBALL ROUNDUP

Grant Hoping Vikes Avoid Letdown

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Minnesota Coach Bud Grant is hoping his unbeaten Vikings don't suffer an emotional letdown this week.

The Vikings remained the only unbeaten team in the National Football League last Sunday when they beat the previously undefeated Los Angeles Rams 10-9 and Grant must watch for a letdown this week when they take on Cleveland.

"I'm really hoping it doesn happen," Grant said. "We've been through emotional games before and come back well following them. I remember a couple of years ago we beat Green Bay in an emotion-packed game and the following week we beat San Francisco without a supercharged team effort. We know Cleveland is a good team and we have to play well to win. I hope this isn't a team of peaks and valleys."

Minnesota, 7-0, relied on a solid defensive effort to stop Los Angeles last week but will be facing a more defense-minded team in the Browns this week.

"The Browns have gone from an offensive team that tried to beat you by scoring a lot of points to a defensive one," Grant said. "They rank No. 1 in their conference. They had a good draft and the trade they made for Bob Babich has solved their middle linebacker problems. Jerry Sherk and Walter Johnson are two of the best defensive tackles around."

Cleveland has a problems, though, in that Johnson has been hospitalized with the flu and Sherk has been bothered by a bad cold. Joe Jones and Nick Roman, the rest of the Cleveland defensive line, have been below par this week.

The Browns stumbled against San Diego last week, tying the Chargers 16-16 after entering the game as heavy favorites. The tie left Cleveland 1 ½ games behind first-place Pittsburgh in the AFC Central race. Minnesota enjoys a four-game bulge in the NFC Central.

In other NFL games Sunday, Los Angeles is at Atlanta, Buffalo at New Orleans, Miami at the New York Jets, Cincinnati at Dallas, Kansas City at San Diego, the New York Giants at Oakland, Denver at St. Louis, New England at Philadelphia, San Francisco at Detroit, Chicago at Green Bay and Houston at Baltimore. Washington is at Pittsburgh Monday night.

Atlanta needs a victory over Los Angeles to make a race of it in the NFC West. The Falcons trail the Rams by two games and a loss to Los Angeles would force Atlanta to make up four games in six weeks.

O.J. Simpson, the first runner in NFL history to gain 1,000 yards in seven games, goes against a Saints team that pulled off one of the big upsets of the year by beating Washington last week. Simpson has 1,025 yards in seven games and is ahead of Jim Brown's pace when he set a season record of 1,863 yards.

Cincinnati and Dallas both are battling to stay in their division races and will be watching Monday night's Washington-Pittsburgh game closely. A Cowboy victory and a Redskin loss would put the NFC East in a tie.

Southern Cal Picked Tomorrow

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Southern Cal and UCLA, proven powers of West Coast college football, are heavily favored tomorrow to maintain a collision course for the Pacific-8 Conference championship and trip to the Rose Bowl.

The USC Trojans, 5-1-1 overall, 3-0 in the Pac-8 and ranked ninth in the country, are 26-point favorites over California at Berkeley. The offensively dangerous but virtually defenseless Bears are 3-4 and 2-2.

UCLA's Bruins, 6-1 and 3-0, are overwhelming 34-point choices to roll over the hapless Washington Huskies at Los Angeles. Nationally 10th-ranked UCLA has added incentive — three straight defeats to the Huskies, who this year are a dismal 1-6 and 0-4.

Elsewhere in the Pac-8, two teams with only one conference defeat — Stanford and Oregon — try to stay alive in the race for the roses.

Stanford, 2-1 in the leave and 4-3 overall, is favored by seven points at Oregon State, 1-6, 1-2, but Oregon, 2-1 and 2-5, is an 11-point underdog at Washington State, 1-6 and 0-3.

The Cougars gained respect above their record from "respectable" loss to UCLA, plus a tough slate of non-league foes.

Southern Cal, which doesn't collide with the Bruins until Nov. 24, lost last Saturday 23-14 to Notre Dame to break a 23-game unbeaten streak. But the Trojans still have a streak — 15 games without defeat against Pac-8 opposition — to play with at Berkeley.

"I have no idea how we'll react," coach John McKay of USC said after the defeat, but he believes his Trojans will be motivated. "If we are intelligent we will realize we have a chance to go to the Rose Bowl."

The Trojans whipped the Bears 42-14 last year en route to a 12-0 national championship season. "We must quit looking back. This is a game of NOW, not sometime in the past," said McKay. "I don't think we are as good as last year — few teams are — but we are better than we have been performing."

The Huskies of Washington already look forward to next year. What team wouldn't want to forget a season in which it already has lost 19 fumbles and suffered 18 intercepted passes —37 turnovers.

The Huskies, who were 8-3 last year when they beat UCLA 30-21, have the Pac's worst turnover record. Southern Cal has blundered the ball away only 11 times and UCLA only 16.

"Our defense has actually been playing pretty good football," said Washington coach Jim Owens.

FISH AND GAME

By AL GIDDINGS

Reports Will Show Bad Deer Season

I've been listening to the deer hunter woes all this week since being home. Most of the reports, especially about California, have generally related to the acute absence of bucks in most areas. I haven't received the statewide deer tag tabulations from the Fish and Game Department, but I'm sure the past season is going to read as one of the poorest. Few bucks, and huge crowds just about everywhere seemed to be the consensus from hunters.

Mel (Moose) Musinich of the Marin Municipal Water District came by the house. He had just returned from an elk hunt in Colorado and he described the hunting area roads as being just like Market Street with its heavy traffic.

One member of his group did get a bull elk. Mel said he himself didn't fire a shot. It seems as though the meat shortage and the high meat prices put many more hunters in the field this year. Deer poaching violations are up, and of course with the small warden force statewide, a good percentage of violations in the field aren't uncovered. There is one which really burns me.

FEDERAL, STATE AND local authorities are now investigating the shooting death and attempted butchering of a mature California bighorn sheep on a refuge in the Lava Beds National Monument, south of Tulelake, Siskiyou County.

The sheep, a 144-pound ram, was one of eight ewes and two rams that were transplanted onto the 1,100 acre enclosure from British Columbia two years ago this week.

Director Ray Arnett of the Department of Fish and Game, one of the agencies involved in the cooperative project to reestablish the bighorn on its former range in northern California, termed the incident "shocking."

ARNETT CALLED on the public to pass along information as to the identity of the vandal. Persons with such information were asked to notify the department's Redding regional office at 637 Cypress Street.

The ram apparently was shot with a small-caliber, high velocity bullet late the afternoon of Saturday, Oct. 20. The vandal then attempted to remove the ram's head, possibly with a pocket knife, but was unable to complete the job.

Jim Blaisdell, a biologist with the National Park Service who is studying the band of sheep, told the fish and game that the ram was seen alive at about 3 p.m., and at approximately 5 p.m., a Modoc County deputy sheriff found the animal dead.

THE RAM HAD BEEN shot just below the ear. The attempt to remove the head was described as "amateurish."

The remains were taken to the Fish and Game's Fish and Wildlife Laboratory in Sacramento to search for clues to the vandal.

Last spring all eight ewes involved in the transplant successfully lambed, bringing the total sheep population at the site to 20.

Four lambs were born the previous spring, but two of the young disappeared and were never found.

The Department of Fish and Game and the other agencies — National Park Service, U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, U. S. Forest Service and U. S. Bureau of Land Management — have high hopes for the success of the project after two successive lambing seasons.

UP AT WHITE HOUSE Pool near Point Reyes Station, some silver salmon have been taken in the tide waters there. About 200 salmon were reported jumping the spillway at the Giacomini dam which separates the tidewaters from the fresh water area. This past week, some culprit broke the dam open. This probably also caused the fish in Tomales Bay to head upstream into the heavy fresh water flow of the released dam. These fish of course can't go anywhere with so little water in Papermill Creek. The dam is needed for agricultural purposes and it tends to keep the fish down in the safer salt water areas until enough rain raises the stream and brings the fish in naturally. The dam may have to be re-installed.

MARTY MEDIN, Pete Valconesi and Steve Truttman, all Marinites, have completed the first 10 days of their annual two-week fly fishing salmon trip to the Smith River in Del Norte county. It's sad. No fish! Pete and Steve finally in desperation went to Oregon where they got 44 and 34-pounders. They plan to give it a few more days at the Smith but they didn't sound too optimistic.

Duck hunting is also slow at most areas. A storm is what we need to change the picture. A storm would improve salmon fishing at Papermll, sturgeon fishing in the bay and it would bring some ducks and geese into this area.

Gloria Bartlett Wins Corte Madera Crown

Gloria Bartlett won 16 of 16 games to earn the round robin championship of the Corte Madera Parks and Recreation tennis tournament yesterday at Corte Madera Town Park.

Janet Nelson and June Barton tied for second with 15 games each and Cathy Theberge was fourth with 14. Sammy Johnson and Norma Bennett tied for consolation honors.

San Marin, Marin 'Cats Tomorrow

Marin Catholic High School, its hopes for a winning season kindled by three consecutive victories, will play a non-league football game tomorrow against a San Marin team which has been deprived of star tailback Wayne Roche.

The game will be played at 1:30 p.m. at Marin Catholic, with the junior varsity contest preceding at 11 a.m. The varsity clash originally was scheduled for 3 p.m. at Novato High, but was changed to avoid damage to Novato's field, which also must be used for the San Rafael-Novato game tomorrow.

Roche, the Marin County Athletic League's leading ball-carrier, strained leg ligaments or cartilage in a 21-6 victory over Tamalpais last weekend, and may be out for the year, coach Bob Martin said. The injury is unrelated to the broken toe on which Roche had been playing for five weeks.

Tim Lessley will start in Roche's place for the Mustangs (4-3). Bob Bennett and Dave Azevedo also will be called on to carry the ball.

Marin Catholic enters the contest with the second-best overall record in Marin, 3-2-1. Only Redwood's 5-2 is better. After an 0-2-1 start, the 'Cats romped through an unbeaten October, knocking off Fremont, Drake and Casa Grande.

Since the small school (enrollment: 744) was founded in 1949, winning seasons have been rare. The best effort was a 7-2 season in head coach Bruno Banducci's first year, 1971. Last year, the 'Cats were 3-6, including a 20-19 loss to San Marin when the Mustangs scored with no time remaining on the clock.

After San Marin, Marin Catholic closes its 1973 campaign with San Rafael and Redwood.

AGAINST DEFENDING CO-CHAMPS

Improved Tars On Road Tomorrow

"They're not the same team they were last year, and neither are we," said College of Marin football coach Dick Read about tomorrow's 1:30 p.m. Camino Norte Conference game with defending co-champion West Valley.

En route to winning a share of the CNC title with De Anza College of Cupertino, the Vikings of Campbell destroyed the Tars, 60-7. But when the Tars and Vikings meet at Leigh High School in San Jose, positions will be different. West Valley (2-1 in CNC and 2-5 overall) is not nearly as strong as last year's edition, while the Tars (2-2 and 3-3) are obviously improved off last season's 1-8 showing. The Vikings have won every game of the series which originated in 1966. They didn't meet in 1967.

The Tars feature quarterback Mike Sanderson, conference leader in passing and total offense. In six games, the 5-foot-8 rollout-style signal caller has accounted for 1,261 yards on 84 completions of 196 passing attempts (42 per cent). He has 10 touchdown tosses and 11 interceptions.

His favorite target is John Buckley who leads the CNC in receptions with 37 good for 608 yards in just five games. Additionally, Buckley is third in the CNC scoring race with 42 points.

Read said, "We've got a real chance, but we'll have to pass block well and get the ball in the air."

While the Tars will concentrate in executing its pass-oriented attack, the Vikings will counter with the hard rushing of running backs Chuck Patterson, sixth in the CNC with 315 yards on 63 carries, and Roger Cantrell, 10th with 215 yards on 71 tries.

When the pair are not sweeping or running off tackle, it is likely that quarterback Rick Mallman will be looking for his fine pass receivers Dave Johnstone and John Baggerly, who are fourth and fifth in conference pass receiving figures with 16 and 13 catches, respectively. Mallman has been productive, rated third in the CNC figures for total offense and passing. He has passed for 729 yards and ran for another 106 while netting seven touchdowns.

Team statistics indicate that the Tars are third in offense and sixth in defense, while West Valley is fifth both offensively and defensively.

Youth Soccer Title Game Set Tomorrow

The Wolves meet the Cubs in the Ross Third and Fourth Grade Soccer League championship game tomorrow at noon at Ross Common.

In two previous meetings, the Cubs won 2-1 and there was a 1-1 tie. The Wolves were the first half winners, while the Cubs took the second half.

Today is Friday, Nov. 2, the 306th day of 1973 with 59 to follow.

The moon is approaching its first quarter. The morning star is Saturn. The evening star is Mercury, Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

James Polk, 11th president of the United Etates, was born Nov. 2, 1795.

On this day in history:

In 1917, a Jzwish homeland in Palestine was proposed by British Foreign Secretary Arthur Balfour. Israel became a reality 31 years later, setting the stage for Arab-Israeli wars which continue today.

In 1920, Pittsburgh Radio Station JDKA began the first regular schedule of broadcasting by reporting returns from the presidential election.

In 1962, President John F. Kennedy announced that Soviet missile bases in Cuba were being dismantled, easing what had become an international crisis.

In 1972, President Nixon said no Vietnam truce would be signed until full satisfactory agreement was completed.

A thought for the day: British statesman Winston Churchill said, "If we open a quarrel between the past and the present, we shall find out that we have lost the future."

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

One Horrible Break Need Not Be Fatal To Pulling Off Game

"We missed the boat, partner," South announced when he saw the dummy. He proceeded to say how the hand should be bid to slam, as he was playing the hand. The result — as you might guess — was that he went down at the game contract.

LOW CLUB

West opened the four of clubs, and South assumed that he could take six clubs, five trumps and a spade. That was the proper assumption if South had to play for 12 tricks. It was not at all proper when the contract was merely a game.

South won the first trick in dummy with the queen of clubs, drew three rounds of trumps and then continued with the ace of clubs. West discarded, and South abruptly stopped talking about the slam.

DOWN ONE

It didn't matter how South played. He could win only three clubs, five trumps and one spade. Down one.

There was no need for South to draw three rounds of trumps before testing the clubs. The right line of play is to draw two rounds of trumps, leaving the queen in dummy. Then South leads his remaining club toward dummy.

RUFF NOT FATAL

West can ruff, if he pleases. Dummy will follow with a low club, and the rest of the suit will be good. Now declarer can get to dummy with the queen of hearts to take the rest of the clubs.

If West fails to ruff the club, he gains nothing. Dummy wins, and declarer then ruffs a club with a high trump. He leads a trump to dummy's queen and runs the rest of the clubs.

CAUTIOUS PLAN

The clincher is that this cautious play loses nothing if both opponents follow suit on the second round of clubs. In that case, North can lead out the queen of hearts, and then continue with the clubs.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner deals and bids one heart.

You hold:
♠ - 9 8
♥ - Q 5 3 2
♣ - A K Q 7 6 2.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two clubs.

You intend to jump to four hearts at your next turn, showing great strength in those two suits. Partner may then be able to move toward slam.

Conditions On Dumbarton Span

BERKELEY (UPI) — The Mertropolitan Transportation Commission imposed two conditions Wednesday on its support for a new Dumbarton Bridge.

The conditions were that at least two approach roads on the west bay side be included in construction plans.

The commission's approval, forwarded to the Bay Conservation and Development Commission, is not necessary for the bridge construction. But its action is a guide to the BCDC whose approval is required.

Transit Police Force Is Urged

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Municipal Railway Gen. Mgr. John M. Woods has proposed creation of a police transit force to protect people on streetcars and buses.

In a letter made public yesterday, Woods said, "Fear is keeping the people of San Francisco away from public transit."

"Violence to passengers and operators, theft, vandalism and other crime have reached the point where existing facilities can no longer cope with them," he said.

Law Discussion

The relevance of the law to justice, the democratic theory and to one's personal needs will be discussed by Albert J. Klein, a graduate of Columbia University Law School, at 8 p.m. Nov. 13 at Temple Rodef Sholom.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Discount Bonds For The Cautious

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am a fairly conservative investor looking not as much for current income as for protection and possible increase of capital. Is there any type of investment which would fit these goals? — R.A.

A. Discount bonds seem to meet your specifications. For example: Alcoa 4¼'s of 1982, which are trading at $815 (81½), yield 5.2 per cent currently yet will appreciate $185 in the nine years to maturity. This lifts the yield to maturity to 7.3 per cent on this A-rated bond. Other possibilities are: Household Finance 4⅞'s of 1981, National Lead 4⅜'s of 1988 and Safeco Corp. 7's of 1978. Annualized gains on these high-quality bonds range from 1.1 per cent to 2 per cent for maturity yields of 7.7 per cent to 8.6 per cent.

Q. I am retired with a good pension. My knowledge in the financial spectrum is limited. I would therefore appreciate your advice on how to improve my present income situation. My assets consist of savings accounts, Series E bonds and Franklin Growth Fund. The latter, which I bought 20 years ago, is near an all-time high. Should this be exchanged? Should I convert my E to H bonds? — M.R.

A. For a self-professed novice you seem to know what you are doing financially. I think both moves make good sense at this time. The conversion of your E bonds to H bonds will provide you with current income. Furthermore the income tax liability on accrued E bond interest may continue to be deferred until the H bonds are redeemed, disposed of or reach final maturity.

Your Franklin Growth Fund shares have done well for you, having appreciated over 10 per cent annually in the last twenty years. Now that your financial situation has changed a switch to the Franklin Income Fund appears to be in order. While this fund, with its dissimilar investment objective, will probably not provide comparable growth, its income return at 7 per cent is considerably greater.

Caution Needed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — "People, not fabrics, cause fires," says Chairman Robert W. Blanchard of the Textile Industry Product Safety Committee. "We will give a high priority to improving retardant fabrics but the public should not be lulled into a false sense of security by these fabrics."

THE SPORTY ONE

A five-speed stick shift, wide radial tires and racy interior styling mold the sporty character of Toyota's 1974 Corolla SR/5. Inside are reclining bucket seats, a tachometer, plus simulated wood grain instrument panel, steering wheel and shift knob. Beneath flared fenders are grey steel wheels with chrome lug nuts and hubs. Marin dealers are Dexter Toyota in San Rafael and Novato Toyota.

Stocks Finish Week With Sharp Decline

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks fell sharply in moderate trading on the New York Stock Exchange today, capping one of the worst weeks in exchange history.

Wall Street is concerned by the missing Watergate tapes and growing demands President Nixon should resign or be impeached, analysts said. They added many stocks—except the oils — were suffering from speculation of a far-reaching energy crisis in the coming months.

These conditions apparently overshadowed some favorable economic news. Late yesterday, Chase Manhattan Bank became the third large bank to lower its prime lending rate—the rate to be charged on loans to best business customers—to 9 ½ per cent. And the Labor Department reported unemployment dropped last month to 4.5 per cent, the lowest rate in 3 ½ years.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange declined in light trading.

Levi Strauss, the blue jean manufacturer, fell sharply at one point. The company announced it expects a fourth quarter loss compared with a $4.4 million profit the same period last year.

DuPont, Union Carbide, Monsanto, Dow and Allied Chemical continued a week-long slide on the Big Board.

Proposition 1, Measure E Deserve Approval

Two proposals on next Tuesday's ballot deserve overwhelming approval.

The first is Proposition 1, the state spending limitation proposed and pushed by Governor Reagan.

If Proposition 1 is passed, for the first time there will be a limit on how much of our money the state can spend. The percentage of our incomes it spends has been creeping upward for many years. In recent years, it has not been just creeping; it has been dashing.

Also, Proposition 1 will put into the state constitution — where they cannot be repealed by the legislature any time that appears of temporary political advantage — the controls on local tax rates and school district spending which were imposed by Senate Bill 90. Because of that bill, many Californians have actual tax reduction this year for the first time in decades. Such reduction will be made permanent if Proposition 1 is adopted.

We don't expect Proposition 1 to result in a perfect law. But that's no reason for not including it in our state constitution. The perfect law has yet to be written. If we eliminated all the imperfect laws, we'd have no constitution at all.

A SECOND proposal deserving passage is Measure E, the Marin Municipal Water District $7.5 million bond issue to bring 8,000 acre feet of water per year from the Russian River via Sonoma County.

There has been a great deal of outright tommyrot in the campaign on this one. It has been depicted as a "growth vs. no growth" issue. It is no such thing.

All it calls for is a minimal reserve supply of water to guard against shortage in dry years.

We don't think Measure E is the complete or the ideal solution to our water problems. But it is a reasonable partial solution. The water it brings will be no more expensive than what we now have. And it will at least provide temporary assurance against shortage to allow time for thorough study of perhaps better long-range solutions.

WE ALSO TEND to favor a third ballot measure: the Novato Flood Control District's $4.5 million bond issue. There is no doubt that flood control is very much needed in the Novato flood plain. The only question here seems to be whether sufficient control could be provided at less cost.

There are numerous election contests in various special districts. But there is one which affects almost all of Marin: that to fill the seat vacated by Elizabeth M. Deedy on the Marin Community College District board.

We favor Joseph A. Gereghty of Kentfield for that position, primarily to provide a "go slow" voice on the college board, which may be overcommitting us on Indian Valley Colleges at the very time that enrollment decreases are in prospect. Gereghty has carefully studied the college district's situation. We think he will give balance to the board.

"The Russians aren't coming! The Russians aren't coming!"

Supervisors Step Out Of Bounds; 'Saviors' Come And Go In Waves

If you please, I would like to give you my thoughts relative to the board of supervisors' officially voting for the impeachment of the President of the United States. I think it was about 1960 that the supervisors were asked to endorse a lady for a state position that the governor was about to make an appointment to.

I refused to vote for the endorsement, but said I would not object to writing a personal endorsement, which I did a day or so later. This sort of thing is far beyond the scope of the authority invested in any board of supervisors.

WHENEVER I READ "Save Marin" in connection with Proposition E (the water bonds), I think of the different times similar groups crested and then faded away, such as "Marin at the Crossroads," "Marin, An Island in Space," or something. Most of those activists or extremists, as you will, are long since gone. Now the ones they were shuddering to think of as the spoilers have moved in anyway and in turn have become the saviors.

There is a thought-inducing story carried in two of the national weekly magazines. There is a little cornfield on the banks of the Illinois River. It is about 45 miles north of St. Louis and for five summers a Northwestern University archaeologist and his crews have been digging and have uncovered 15 separate layers of prehistoric Indian settlements, one atop the other. The oldest some 8,000 years back — long before the Pyramids were build or Britain's Stonehenge. So far I have watched three layers of activist-extremists make the scene here and now we have the fourth. As the years go on there will be how many saviors; all with the illusion that they are the first and the last?

IF THE HOMEOWNER taxpayers don't come out and vote "Yes" on Proposition 1, they are missing a chance to control the spending habits of the tax eaters in all layers of government.

Nixon Ties Hands Of New Watergate Special Prosecutor

By EUGENE V. RISHER

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Barring an unexpected assertion of Congressional power, the new special Watergate prosecutor will have less authority to investigate wrong-doing in the White House than his predecessor.

As the "firestorm" of the past week calmed, several things became clear:

THE NEW PROSECUTOR, whoever he is, will not have the authority to sue for "presidential documents" which may be needed in prosecuting Watergate wrongdoers. It was a dispute over this central issue that directly led to Archibald Cox's ouster and the resignations in protest of Atty. Gen. Elliott L. Richardson and his deputy, William D. Ruckelshaus.

—President Nixon plans to oppose any move by Congress to appoint a special prosecutor of its own and it appears unlikely that enough votes could be mustered to impose such an arrangement against the President's will.

—Nixon will not turn over records of his own private conversations —or other items considered by him to fall into the category of "Presidential documents." The sole exceptions are the nine tapes he decided to relinquish under court orders.

AT HIS NEWS CONFERENCE ;ast weel. Nixon pledged the "fullest cooperation" with the new special prosecutor so the Watergate matter could be brought to a fair and expeditious conclusion.

"It is time for those who are guilty to be prosecuted and for those who are innocent to be cleared," he said.

But beyond these assurances —which sound very much like those given when Cox assumed the job —not much the President said in the acrimonious session with reporters would bring comfort to that wide segment of the public which does not want to believe that Nixon fired Cox because he was getting too close to some embarrassing truths.

He defended his decision to dismiss him on grounds that Cox rejected the "compromise" whereby authenticated versions of the nine Watergate-related tapes would be furnished the court and that Cox refused to obey his orders to cease court action to obtain further information.

ACTUALLY IT WAS NOT a "compromise" that Nixon proposed but a unilateral declaration by the President that the matter of the Watergate tapes would be handled in this way.

And Cox technically did not reject it — indeed, he did not have the authority to either accept or reject it. It was Judge John J. Sirica who had to decide whether this arrangement would satisfy the order of his court, and the President did not wait for him to render a judgment. After Cox's ouster, he complied with the order by turning the tapes over to Sirica for his private inspection.

So after the smoke has cleared, it appears that the President has effectively curtailed further efforts to obtain "presidential documents" as evidence in determining the guilt or innocence of his former associates.

It appears also that he has not come to grips with the central problem facing him: How to allay the suspicions now held by a substantial segment of the public that he personally is guilty of criminal conduct.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Is Measure E Advertising A Treat Or A Trick?

Compliments to the "Yes on E" committee for the beautiful well-written, understandable ad in the I-J Oct. 30. I am sure that more will follow.

The question is: Is it a treat, or is it a trick? My faith in the intelligence of Marin County voters, so evident in recent campaigns, tells me that the tricks, so beautifully hidden, are really so obvious that this deceptive conception of Measure E will be "treated" to defeat on Nov. 6.

County Growth Control Ordinance Applauded

On candidates night, I and my five worthy opponents for the three vacant seats on the Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District board were asked to state our positions relative to the boards right or responsibility for setting controls which limit growth in the district. In spite of the obvious voter popularity to be gained by reaffirming the incumbents vociferous insistance that the power to grant or deny sewer connections is a valid mode of purposefully limiting growth, I took a minority opinion that the board "should not usurp" the legitimate power of the duly authorized planning commissions and departments in this regard . . .

In answer to a candidate's prayer, two days later the I-J headlined the board of supervisors' intent to provide the necessary governmental tools for growth limitation by the adoption of a growth control ordinance which affirms local control. I heartily applaud the aims and high purposes of the ordinance as outlined in the lead story. Development plans that will be competing for limited units per year based on a system of area benefit ratings is a giant step in the field of planning . . .

Only A Fool Would Permit Marin To Grow

The people who are desperately trying to make it look as though the board of supervisors is going to have some feasible means of controlling growth before the water bond election takes place are missing the point. The vast majority of Marin County citizens, I suspect, would not be satisfied with such puny restrictions as the board has promulgated even if they did have the means to enforce them. People are rather asking, "Why should we allow any more growth, at least until means can be found to solve environmental and taxation problems?" Environmental degradation resulting from development is obvious, and as far as taxation is concerned the county assessor has stated that property taxes for persons living in a sparsely populated area of the county will be far less than in the denser areas because of fewer demands for public services and schools. Knowing these facts, only a fool would vote for a proposition which would allow more growth, unless of course he had a special economic interest in development.

The only other factor which might lead people to vote for Proposition "E" would be the fear of a water shortage, a fear which is being played up by the proponents of this measure. Fortunately there are people around who are telling the truth about this and are opposing Proposition "E." Let's hope the message gets through.

We Must Learn To Live On Own Resources

In voting for or against Measure E, we have to realize that at stake is not just the issue of local water shortage, or controlled growth, or the economic impact of the water moratorium.

The basic issue before us, it seems to me, is the urgent need for resource management and land planning on a regional level.

Stop-gap solutions on a purely local level have become hopelessly inadequate in today's fast growing and incredibly complex metropolitan areas like the San Francisco Bay Region.

On the surface it all seems so simple: Marin needs more water for its growing needs. The neighboring county has plenty of it. So we decide to go next door to tap Sonoma's Russian River water. But Sonoma County has to use Mendocino County rivers to fill its proposed dams — that are supposed to alleviate our water shortage.

I wonder how many of us have been fully aware of what the regional impact of this seemingly simple action could amount to?

I hope that by now most of us have learned that we cannot keep assuming that we can go "next door" whenever we run out of our resources. We have to learn to live within our own land holding capacity. But once we have opened the flood gates for easy access to new water sources, our chances for a truly successful crash program in water conservation, reclamation and growth control laws will be almost nil.

Grateful To Roumiguiere For Proposition 1 Stand

I, for one, wish to express my gratitude publicly to Supervisor Bob Roumiguiere for taking his stand in support of Proposition 1. This has reference to his letter to the I-J printed in the issue of 30 Oct.

As Mr. Roumiguiere stated, it is the big spenders and the big receivers of taxpayers' money, or others who have their feet in the trough, that resist such a restraint. The wording of the measure provides amply for all contingencies and does not restrict legitimate needs.

This could well be a "once in a lifetime" for taxpayers to strike a blow in their own behalf. It is most unlikely that another governor, nor anyone else, will ever again provide us with such an opportunity. This is it! We certainly should take advantage. If Proposition 1 fails you may be sure the lid is off on spending.

It is earnestly hoped that the other county supervisors will wisely and intelligently support a measure that will bring some relief to the taxpayers who pay their salaries.

Too Much Cluttering Of State Constitution

The intent of Proposition One is worthy, but in practice it is likely to land us in a mess.

Every election we are faced with many ballot measures that are constitutional amendments. To understand them, or even a few of the most important, is beyond the time and interest of most of us.

Proposition One will increase the number of future ballot measures. It freezes into the constitution many details, even dollar amounts that will have to be changed from time to time.

Our whole system of initiative and referendum may break down if it is overloaded, and it is much too precious to lose. Let us simplify the constitution, not make it more complex. Vote against Proposition.

Foreign Diplomats Give President High Marks On Handling Of Crisis

WASHINGTON — It is clear that the United States has aborted a perilous military confrontation with the Soviet Union as grave and uncertain as the Cuban missile crisis.

In 1962 Nikita Khrushchev was preparing to install offensive nuclear weapons in Cuba with the approval of Fidel Castro.

Last week Leonid Brezhnev was in the process of deploying substantial Russian troops into Egypt with the approval of President Sadat.

The Kremlin had its troops ready and on alert.

It sent a sternly worded note to President Nixon informing him that if the United States did not also dispatch troops to the Middle East, ostensibly to guarantee the cease-fire, the Soviets would act alone.

THAT WAS THE WAY the crisis began and it ended the way the Cuban missile crisis ended 11 years ago. For some reason the Russians decided against precipitating a military confrontation with the United States and the danger of nuclear war breathlessly faded again.

Understandable questions arise:

Did firm and forthright actions by the United States government avert the peril of superpower confrontation or did the whole thing simply look more ominous than it was?

Was the alerting of American troops worldwide prudent and wise or was it, as the Russians later contended, "absurd," without cause?

To what extent, if any, was President Nixon's handling of the crisis weakened or handicapped by the divisiveness of Watergate?

SOMETIMES IT IS helpful — perhaps reassuring — to see ourselves through the eyes of others who know at firsthand both our weaknesses and our strenghts.

Since last Thursday, when the crisis was dissolved and the Soviet Union accepted the U.S. position, I have had the opportunity of candid conversations with several highly respected foreign diplomats in Washington. They were discussing the American handling of the threatened military confrontation and the following reflects their consensus, bordering on their nearly unanimous appraisal:

1 — They perceived no Watergate-related weakness on the part of the president in any aspect of his mood, manner, judgment and actions as he steered the crisis into calm waters.

2 — They did not see any evidence — and in different ways they had a close view of what was goingon — that Mr. Nixon either underreacted or overreacted to events. On the basis of their own governments' intelligence and on their own judgment, their view paralleled that of the president and Secretary of State Kissinger. It was that the Soviet Union precipitated the confrontation, that there was objective evidence that huge airlifts of Russian troops to the Middle East were in readiness, that Soviet forces had already been put on the alert before Mr. Nixon responded with the American alert.

3 — These foreign diplomats thought that Mr. Nixon was wise to reject efforts at his press conference to get him to describe the tone of the Soviet note as "rough." He said, rather, that Mr. Brezhnev's note to him was "frank and left no doubt what he intended" and that his note to Mr. Brezhnev was "frank and left no doubt what America intended." They thought this was Mr. Nixon alertly at his best.

4 — And, finally, they appreciated Mr. Nixon's off-the-cuff decision at his press conference to mute earlier criticism by some officials of NATO allies for refusing to help trans-ship supplies to Israel.

The President was careful to point out that Europe's dependence on Middle East oil was overwhelming and that if the Arab-Israeli war continued, Europeans might well be freezing this winter.

IN OTHER WORDS, these foreign diplomats gave the president an impressive vote of confidence for the unharried and resourceful statemanship, and they noted with satisfaction that all the top Democrats in Congress supported what the president did.

With equal candor I must add that the diplomats regretted that Mr. Nixon himself felt it necessary to point up at his press conference how well he did under adverse circumstances, since the events themselves were so much more eloquent than the innuendoes of his media critics."

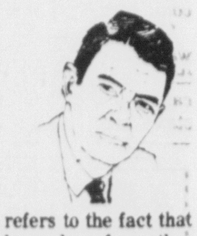
Short Campaign Answer To Many Election Woes



By RUS WALTON

As winter comes, can the long, long spring of another election year be far behind?

Already the office-hungry politicians are padding about the hustings. Even now the din and the ding-a-lings of politics begin to invade our privacy. Judging from the early starts of those who would be kings — or, at least, executives and legislators — we are in for a long and noisy season.

Mike Montgomery, a San Marino attorney, thinks there is a better way.

Montgomery is a Republican candidate for California secretary of state — one of several, including state Corporations Commissioner Brian Van Camp, Unemployment Appeals Commissioner James Flournoy, and, possibly, former Congressman John Schmitz.

"THE SHORT CAMPAIGN," advocates Montgomery. "That's the practical solution. Limit campaigns to two months in the fall."

Under his idea, office-seekers would file their statements of candidacy in September, on the day after Labor Day.

Primary elections would be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in October.

And general elections would be held — as now on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November.

The bob-tailed campaigns would give candidates time to present their wares. As Montgomery points out, the existing eight-month campaign period is a holdover from the days when politicians used stagecoach or horseback to get around the state.

Montgomery also refers to the fact that Arizona and Nevada and a few other states have the short campaign and it seems to be working well.

"Besides," he asserts "the short campaign is the only practical way to eliminate the need for the tremendous amounts of money spent on elections. For one thing, no big money would come in until filings closed in September. Vested interests aren't going to back a horse until they know for sure who's in the race."

Montgomery stresses that if the need for big money is not eliminated, the big money will always be available — one way or the other.

He has analyzed the various election reform bills and feels they are full of loopholes. Not only that, they favor the incumbents.

MONTGOMERY HAS the right idea. Sen. Barry Goldwater suggested it, recently, on the floor of the Senate. His proposal was met by thunderous apathy from his colleagues.

Governor Reagan made a similar proposal in his "State of the State" message back in 1969. Nothing has been done about it — mostly because the legislature is populated by incumbents.

But if we really want election reform, the short campaign is an idea that has gestated long enough.

Dog Owners Run Great Risks In Letting Pets Run Loose

The story of four dogs attacking a cow at a Novato ranch last week again points up the lack of consideration of some dog owners.

In this case, at least one of the dogs that mauled a 2-year-old heifer at the ranch of George D. Grossi Jr. should have known better.

The tan male retriever, named Hulk, lost one leg awhile back when a rancher shot him during a similar attack on livestock.

That time the wound healed. This time the dog was not so lucky.

THE INCIDENT at the Grossi ranch is bound to reinforce the belief that Marin, semi-rural though it is, is no place for large dogs if they are allowed to roam.

In the cities and towns, they bark, run in packs, sometimes attack children or knock elderly people to the ground, and mess up streets, sidewalks and yards.

In the country, they attack and kill sheep, cattle and chickens as well as wild game.

The state Department of Fish and Game estimates dogs kill three times as many deer as do hunters.

What many dog owners fail to realize is that they stand to lose much as anyone over the behavior of their pets.

For one thing, the owner of any livestock attacked by a dog may collect double damages from the dog's owner for death or injury to stock.

For another, a dog owner never knows when he lets his dog out for a nightly romp whether the animal is going to come back. Some are shot and killed by irate ranchers.

Consider, too, the $2 million suit against the owners of two dogs said to have knocked down an elderly Mill Valley minister as he strolled through his community.

JUDGE CHARLES READ BEST called me into his office after my Oct. 17 "Reporters Notebook" and said he was disturbed about the implication justice wasn't applied to all equally.

The column questioned allowing an Army captain to escape a jail term in a manslaughter case while sending to jail a woman who said she did nothing more than wait in a car while her male companion burglarized a shop.

Best said the captain had a spotless service record, many character references, and a family to support. A jail sentence would have ended his Army career, he said.

On the other hand, the judge said Sausalito police discovered that the woman and her male friend had knocked over the shop once before on the night they were arrested, stashed some clothing in a hotel room, and were back for a second trip when caught.

That information was not in the probation report which was the basis for my notebook, and admittedly changes the picture.

Faced last week with a Novato teen-ager who committed the same crime as the captain, Best handed him the same sentence and then, looking squarely into the court gallery, said "That shows there is equal justice for the same crimes, at least in this court."

Teacher Of Year Stresses Independence

By GLORIA EAGAN

Sensitivity is the key to effective teaching, declares Dorothea Smith of Bodega Bay, newly named Marin Teacher of the Year by Virgil Hollis, county superintendent of schools.

"A teacher must be sensitive to the needs of the child and then act as a catalyst," she said.

Mrs. Smith who is teacher-in-charge of the three-room Bodega Bay School teaches kindergarten and directs the reading program for the school's fifty students in grades one through five.

Her technique developed over 13 years of teaching elementary grade students includes finding out what the child is interested in and then encouraging independent research.

In the teaching of reading, the day of the mass assignment is ended, she said. Students do progress at their own level, using the basic textbooks, but for supplemental reading they are encouraged to explore their own interests.

"I try to put it on a business basis. We decide what will be done, in the same way business people make a contract. This way the student is encouraged become independent," she said.

A youthful woman at 45, with a warm personality she is soft-spoken, and poised.

She began teaching at the Bodega Bay School in 1970 after teaching for two years at the Wilson School in Petaluma and one year at Tomales Elementary School. Two years ago she was appointed teacher in charge and became responsible for developing programs at the three-teacher school in the shoreline Unified School District.

DOROTHEA SMITH
Many activities

As Marin Teacher of the Year she becomes a contender for the title of California Teacher of the Year.

She was selected by a screening committee composed of two county school superintendents from nominations open to all teachers either in Marin or under the jurisdiction of the county schools department.

Becoming a teacher was for Mrs. Smith the result of a postponed dream.

At the age of 9, growing up in the post depression years in El Dorado, Ark., she decided to be a teacher. A bright student, she excelled in the classroom.

Her father worked for a local oil company where he designed tanks for fuel storage and also devised a plan to separte gases from oils. His designs were the subject of several technical journal articles.

In 1941 the family which included five children moved to the state of Washington where her father was foreman of pipefitters at the naval base at Puget Sound.

Her first job was working in the electrical shop at the base where she sliced wires used for the carrier Enterprise. A teenager she was the youngest worker in the shop.

She moved back to Arkansas where she worked as secretary to her future husband Earl W. Smith while a senior at Glen Rose High School in Malvern. He was then 28, a member of the faculty.

After they were married she put aside her amibition to become a teacher in order to help her husband obtain a master's degree. She then concentrated on rearing the couple's three children. When the youngest was ready for first grade, she enrolled in 1955 at the State College of Arkansas in Conway.

After earning her degree and practicing teaching at the Winthrop Rockerfeller Model School in Morrilton, Ark., the Smiths moved west. She taught in Orland, Tulare and Lompoc, living in rural communities compatible with her husband's highly specialized field of agriculture vocational teaching. He is now a teacher at Tomales High School.

For a while the Smiths ran a demonstration farm for students where they raised chickens, swine, and show animals, in an operation which included a dairy and an orchard.

Her biography sheet is studded with evidence of a person always on the go. She has taken graduate courses in nine colleges including Dominican and Sonoma State.

Through the years she has taken part in or led 42 endeavors: professional organizations, and community groups.

Her local memberships include the Marin County Mental Health Association, the Marin Kindergarten Association, Marin Math Council, Shoreline Education Association, Bodega Bay Chamber of Commerce, Little Hills Theater, Petaluma; and Marin County Chamber of Commerce.

A portion of her other activities include past worthy matron of the Order of the Eastern Star of Arkansas, girl scout leader, Sunday school teacher for 13 years, a member of the California Children's Lobby, California Teachers Association and editor and originator of the Shoreline district newsletter.

At Bodega Bay School, she says, school administrators provide her with the freedom to put her own ideas into practice. "I would really feel stifled, if I was not able to teach in the way I feel is of most benefit to the students. I hope I can be worthy of the trust they place in me," she said.

Reporter In Manson Case Hit By Lawsuit

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — When reporter William T. Farr got an exclusive story during the Manson Family murder trial, despite a court gag rule, six attorneys came under suspicion as the possibile source of the leak, and Farr went to jail for not telling who his source was.

Two of the six lawyers yesterday sued Farr, arguing that they remain under a cloud of suspicion because he did not tell who leaked the information.

The two attorneys, Paul J. Fitzgerald and Irving A. Kanarek, also named in their $24 million suit two other attorneys, who they say are the ones guilty of leaking the story to Farr.

Fitzgerald and Kanarek argued that their professional reputations are clouded because they are among the six men from whom the leak allegedly came, in defiance of a court order.

They demanded $24 million in damages from former Deputy District Attorney Vincent T. Bugliosi, attorney Dayne Shinn, and Farr and five other defendants. They accused Bugliosi and Shinn of perjury.

Bugliosi was the chief prosecutor in the trial of Charles Manson and four female followers for the Sharon Tate-Labianca murders.

The trial judge imposed a gag rule, forbidding any of the principals in the case from revealing information to newsmen.

But reporter Farr obtained a story that Manson's cult talked about killing Frank Sinatra, Elizabeth Taylor and other celebrities.

He went to jail for 46 days for contempt of court rather than reveal his sources, other than to say the leak came from someone among the six prosecuting and defense attorneys in the trial.

All six denied under oath to the judge that they had given information to Farr in violation of the judge's order.

Farr's case is still pending, and he could be jailed for years for continued refusal to identify the source, which he has vowed never to do.

Fitzgerald and Kanarek charged in their suit that Bugliosi and Shinn gave the information to Farr and since then have "continuously, secretly requested and called upon...Farr to refuse and continue to refuse to reveal their true names."

Bugliosi called the suit "absurd, a cheap shot at publicity by the lawyer that represented Charles Manson."

Fuel For Agricultural Industry Said Critical

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Diesel fuel is in such critically short supply in California that the state's $6 billion agriculture industry could at any time "grind to a halt," the state's No. 2 farm official said yesterday.

Affected immediately by the shortage is the present harvesting of rice, corn, sorghum and sugar beets and also under a severe threat is winter plowing for all spring planting, said Robert Hartzell, deputy state agriculture director.

The situation, Hartzell added, "will carry right down the chain to the consumer" — meaning higher prices.

"I think it's a very critical situation in California and I do think we could see the wheels of agriculture grind to a halt if we don't get additional fuel," Hartzell said.

He also said that an adequate supply of fuel for heating systems to protect California's vest vineyards and citrus fields was in jeopardy. Agriculture is the state's No. 1 industry and 40 per cent of all fruits and vegetables consumed in the nation come from California.

The problem, Hartzell said, was two-pronged. One, under the mandatory federal fuel allocation — effective Thursday — states will get an amount of fuel equal to the corresponding month of 1972.

However, Hartzell said, there is a "crisis" because California farmers used only a small amount of the fuel they would have normally used because of heavy rains last winter.

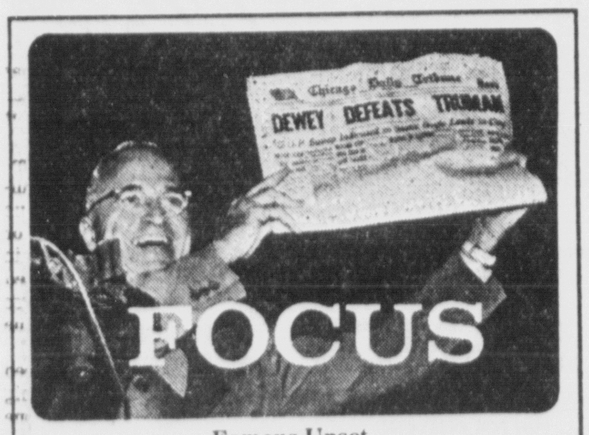
The second part of the problem, he said, was a mixup in paper work by the federal government in allocating fuel for new acreage not in use last year.

Hartzell said the Office of Oil and Gas of the U.S. Interior Department in San Francisco was handling the paper work for such requests but "they don't even have any forms."

He said he could not estimate how many California farmers would be affected, but a department spokesman said it was "considerably" in light of record new acreage planted this year.

Farmers, Hartzell said, will "suffer" this winter in harvesting late crops but added that "the real problem will be winter plowing in preparation for next spring."

He also said the fuel situation could force farmers to turn away from such specialty crops as cantaloupe, lettuce and other perishable products because of the amount of fuel needed to keep them fresh.



Famous Upset

Not only the Chicago Tribune was caught off balance by Harry S. Truman's upset victory 25 years ago today. Almost all pollsters and political experts had predicted victory for his Republican opponent, Thomas E. Dewey. With Southern Democrats and left-wing Democrats abandoning him for third and fourth party candidates, Truman seemed to face an impossible fight. Undiscouraged, he fought back with a vigorous "whistle stop" campaign in which he castigated what he called the "do nothing" Republican-controlled 80th Congress. Truman's running mate was Alben Barkley; Dewey's running mate later won fame on the Supreme Court.

DO YOU KNOW — Who was Dewey's running mate in the 1948 election?

THURSDAY'S ANSWER — World population is increasing 2 per cent a year.

Ethel Barrie Of Lyn Fa Gardens Retires; New Owners Announced

Chinese food, I've noticed, gives many people a sense of luxury without a big price tag affixed to it.

There's something about picking and choosing from several fishes that's fascinating. And since the various offerings are invariably tasty, wholesome, well prepared food, plates are seldom returned to the kitchen without being cleaned to the last morsel.

Lin Fa Gardens at Northgate has been an excellent place to go and experiment with your own combinations ever since Ethel Barrie opened it 10 years ago. She was one of the first tenants at the shopping center, starting business here when scarcely anyone but Terra Linda residents patronized the area.

Ethel was determined and eventually made a go of it. Her featuring of good organ players in the lounge and annual Polynesian parties became famous.

You'll notice I've been using the past tense. She's now giving up the "ship" and retiring. Starting next week you are not likely to see her around Lin Fa much, except as a visitor. She will be missed.

The new operators are young, experienced and familiar with the area. Peter Woo has been in the restaurant business about 15 years and for the past year he and his wife Gail have run Der Hof Brau Haus, just a few doors way from Lin Fa, and have done so successfully. They have been offering, not Chinese food, but roast beef, corned beef, pastrami and ham sandwiches, sauerkraut, knackwurst, Polish sausage and brockwurst.

But they are ambitious and Lin fa seems to be made to order for them to show what they can do on a larger scale.

THERE WON'T BE AN OPENING of the Tortola Restaurant at Second and G streets, San Rafael, until about Dec. 1, says Fred Scarpulla, who will manage this new family food operation at the former West End Villa and (more recently) the Medallion.

Delay in remodeling is the reason. Carpenters haven't completed their work and there other opening problems and red tape, which apparently can't be overcome quickly. And so Tortola will be out of the running for Thanksgiving dinner this year.

Incidentally, former Medallion managers Joe and Sylvia Morin will start operating the Quail Hill Luncheon Club on Monday. This is in the Commerce Clearing House building at the top of Quail Hill at the back of Northgate. Breakfasts are served beginning at 7:30 a.m.; Danish pastries and coffee during mid-morning, and lunches beginning at 11:30 a.m.

IF YOU LIKE THE UNUSUAL in cookbooks, the place to go tomorrow night from 6 to 9 or Sunday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. is Katherine Eubanks Florist in Larkspur for a copy of "Bahl Gorms in Boont" ($2.75) published by the Mendocino County Chamber of Commerce. At the same time you can have it autographed by Edna Sanders, who wrote it.

That title, by the way, is in "Boontling," an old time lingo that originated about 1890 with the men around Boonville to tell their earthy stories and is still spoken to this day by some of them. It simply means "Good Eating in Boonville."

Read it and find out how to prepare such old favorites of theirs as ganos bread, fried beljeek, smoked seertle or zeese doolsey. If you have any trouble with the translations, ask Katherine or Ray Eubanks, who have a smattering of the tongue, being old-time Boonville residents.

The book has other Marin connotations. It was printed by Gordon Morse and Dick Lindauer, former Fairfax residents and owners of Captain's Curries in San Anselmo, and now in the printing business in Ukiah. In fact, Dick did the illustrations for the book.

COME TO FIND OUT, herb and seasoning specialist Mary Taylor has not left Marin after all (permanently, that is). She and husband Jack were only away on a long trip and are back again in Sleepy Hollow and so are her seasonings and mixes.

FOR THOSE WHO LIKE a cozy fireplace, mahogany and buffalo head atmosphere on chilly or rainy days and evenings, Lark Creek Inn at Larkspur has opened its bar area for lunches and dinners. And it also gives more space for the customers.

THERE'S ANOTHER biweekly amateur show tonight at the Mayflower Inn in San Rafael. It's a lot of fun and Cockney emcee Chris Bowyer keeps things moving fast. And you can usually count on Mayflower owner Barry Oldham to offer a song or two of his own and help them along.

The Mayflower is now also featuring a "whist drive" on the second Tuesday of each month (next one Nov. 13) from 6 to 8 p.m., sponsored by the Marin chapter of the British-American Club, which also contributes prizes.

JON HENDRICKS AND FRIENDS (which include Judith Hendricks and Lee Keefauver) are at the Lion's Share in San Anselmo tonight and tomorrow night. Opening the show will be the Larry Vuckovich Group, featuring Mel Martin.

The Lion's Share has started weekend after-hours shows, beginning at 2 a.m. (after the regular Friday and Saturday night shows). At this time a full breakfast menu is available. Admission is $2.

A friend of ours recently spent the evening up on Broadway, instead of driving all the way to San Rafael where we are. It cost him $3.00 for parking, $51.87 for dinner, $48.50 for drinks, tips, and cover charge at a topless night club, and $75,000 plus his lawyer's fee of $3,500 for his subsequent divorce. 'Clean' Nuclear Reaction Found

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The discovery of a new kind of nuclear reaction which may be able to produce "super clean" energy without radiation hazards common to present nuclear power plants was disclosed by scientists of the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) yesterday.

AEC physicist Thomas A. Weaver, who announced the discovery at a meeting of the American Physical Society in Philadelphia, said it would require "major advances" in technology to make it practical for energy production, since it requires heat of 3 billion degrees, but he said it would be worth it to try.

In a related development, the AEC said yesterday an experimental device for uranium enrichment broke apart Oct. 20 under the stress of centrifugal force, releasing a small amount of uranium hexafluoride into a work area in Oak Ridge, Tenn.

"There were no personal injuries," the AEC statement said. "Approximately 4 ounces of uranium hexafluoride were released in the building, but there was no radioactive overexposure of personnel. Many other centrifuges were unaffected by the incident and are continuing in test operation."

Weaver said the discovery of the new, safer reaction "contradicts the widespread belief that fission releases energy only in heavy elements like uranium and plutonium."

"It produces virtually no lingering radioactivity and thus could be the basis for super-clean power plants," he said.

He said the new reaction involved the fissioning of boron 11, the most common form of the element. He added that a heat of 3 billion degrees was required in order to get atoms of boron 11 to release their energy.

The announcement came as the United States, Canada and most of Europe were in a fuel crunch caused by shortages and the Middle East conflict. In Canada, Defense Minister James Richardson, who threatened to resign unless his country developed nuclear power, has apparently gotten his way.

Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau said under questioning in the House of Commons that "there are at least two sites in western Canada which are being considered" for heavy water plants.

FLORA HAWAIIANA — The exotic splendor of Hawaii's lush, tropical flowers and foliage is seen in massive scale and brilliance in this four-foot by nine-foot air-brushed painting by Irina Popoff. Its cropped forms and dazzling rhythms characterize the artist's approach in her show of paintings, drawings, and collages at the Metes & Bounds Gallery in Sausalito.

ART REVIEW

Works Capture Hawaii's Flowers

By ADA GARFINKEL

The lush, tropical flowers and foliage and brilliant sunlight of Hawaii are richly articulated in Irina Popoff's paintings and drawings at the Metes & Bounds Gallery in Sausalito.

The artist, who has worked and taught in the Hawaiian Islands, has an educated awareness of both the botanical and pictorial design elements of the native floral species.

Miss Popoff works both large and small. Her largest and most exemplary painting is the four-foot by nine-foot "Hawaiian Flora." In this air-brushed acrylic canvas, the artist has expanded flower and leaf shapes to giant size.

Diagonal thrusts and counter thrusts of huge stalks and insect forms, flowing contour rhythms, sharp cropping of forms, and brilliant colors work in total harmony.

This unity is missing in several others of the large paintings where Miss Popoff has combined the airbrush technique with direct brush application and with multiple divisions of space.

"Hibiscus in Clouds" comes off best in this group. The airbrush spray atomizes the subdued background colors, lending a dreamy, hot-house or jungle atmosphere. The wide horizontal band across the mid-section acts like a spot-light revealing the characteristic bright, high-keyed colors.

The combination of the airbrush and direct application in contrasting recessive and vibrant tonalities creates a decided spatial and sensory impact.

"Muensteria," however, appears to be a transitional work, exploratory, and lacking the sureness and workmanship of most of the others.

Irina Popoff is a prolific artist; all of her works in the exhibit are dated 1973. She is also imaginative and innovative in her presentation and is a skillful draftsman with a sinuously fluid and vibrant linear sensitivity. This is most obvious in her conte drawings and in her watercolors.

Her approach in these is to focus on the ovulating and seed-bearing structures of flowers — the pistils and stamens and their various components — as design elements. She then proceeds to dramatize their settings.

They can be as simple as the small, crisp "Hibiscus" series which are unglassed — the textured paper mounted on stretchers and "framed" with a narrow band made from dried, woven leaves.

Or as complex as the glassed "Hibiscus Lady" in which the waxy, yellow-orange petals are set in a composite of greens, blues, and turquoise colors which blend in a verdure redolent of Hawaii. The artist enhances the drama by cutting away all of the area around the composition and mounting it as a collage on a warm purple background.

A nice touch is the array of island flowers flown in from Hawaii to grace the exhibit. Long-stalked, spiky torch ginger, hibiscus, bird of paradise and glossy leaves in handsome arrangements heighten the authenticity of the artist's work.

This exhibit will continue through Dec. 15 and may be viewed Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. The gallery is located at 215 Second Street.

The Kohoutek Comet Is Coming Into View

Black Point and the hills east of Petaluma are the best locations locally to see the greatest show not on earth, said Albert C. Heppe, professor of astronomy at the College of Marin.

He was talking about the comet Kohoutek, hailed since last spring as the "comet of the century."

The comet is brightening up so that it is now visible with small telescopes, binoculars and perhaps the unaided eye, he said.

For Southern Marin residents, the vista point at the Golden Gate Bridge gives a good range, but the viewer is hampered by the background of the Oakland lights. The same holds true of Mount Tamalpais, he said.

The best place to set up small telescopes or to view the comet with binoculars is on any rise with an unobstructed view to the east and southeast, Heppe said.

"It is best to know for sure where the sun rises and this time of year it is about 15 degrees south of east," he said.

The comet can be seen at that spot about an hour before sunrise although it may be seen as early as two hours.

"By mid-November, it should have a well defined tail and by mid-December, it will be spectacular," he said.

Acting Police Boss Selected By Daley

CHICAGO (UPI) —Mayor Richard J. Daley yesterday appointed James M. Rochford as acting police superintendent until a permament replacement is found for James B. Conlisk. Conlisk resigned after 19 Chicago policemen were convicted of extortion and conspiracy.

Daley said Rochford, 52, who was the deputy superintendent, will serve as superintendent until a nationwide search by the International Associatioon of Chiefs of Police recommends a permament superintendent.

FAMILY

"The Optimist" — "The lives of two children of the slums of London are enhanced by the humanity of a wise old actor. The directors realistic style spans the pettiness of poverty and the triumph of the human spirit.

"What's Up Doc?" — Whacky slapstick farce about a kooky girl chasing an eccentric young man and three men chasing four identical plaid suitcases — one containing diamonds.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"American Graffiti" — Filmed in Marin and Southern Sonoma. Story is just one night's activities in 1962 in the lives of four boys. Some suggestive sex scenes and scruffy language.

"Harold and Maude" — A heavy-handed film about an 80-year-old woman teaching a mixed-up, suicidal young man how to enjoy life including marriage to her.

"Last American Hero" — Based on life of Junior Jackson, an anti-establishment stock-car racer. Set in rural south, his desperate efforts to be successful is conveyed through positive family relationships. Some cursing and a brief sex scene.

"A New Leaf" — Comedy with touches of satire. An aging playboy bachelor has spent his fortune unwisely. He marries an awkward homely heiress with plans to eliminate her, but plan back fires.

"Paper Moon" — Sophisticated comedy drama recreating the 1930s. Salesman-con-artist agrees to deliver a 9-year-old orphan girl to an aunt. The child is tough, smokes and swears and outswindles her mentor.

"Westworld" — Science-fiction tale of a tourist resort peopled by super-robots identical to humans, who provide romance, excitement and life and death experiences in three different settings. Gory ending. (Boxoffice Magazine).

BORDERLINE

(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Fillmore" — Documentary of last rock concert at San Francisco Fillmore West. Performances of several groups. Excessive cursing.

"Fists of Fury" — Karate expert fights a dozen armed men with his bare hands. Most of the cast is murdered in an overindulgence of blood and gore. Cursing, nudity.

"Jimi Hendrix" — Amateurish documentary reveals rock-star, who died mysteriously at the height of his popularity, was a very private person. Film clips of concerts shows virtuoso guitar playing. Vulgar dialogue.

"Last of the Red Hot Lovers" — A staid married mans' three attempts to commit adultery. Cast is good but jokes all center on his conflict between desire and guilt. Plot gets repetitive.

"Legend of Hell House" — A team of investigators unravel the source of ghastly murders in a haunted house. Assorted physical phenomena including intercourse with a ghost. Violence and vulgarity.

"Let's Scare Jessica to Death" — A parody of bad horror films, this one deals with mental illness, seduction, sex and a bloody gory ending.

"Soylent Green" — Science-fiction presents chilling view of future. In solving a murder a detective uncovers an ugly truth about society. Sex scenes and violence.

"Steelyard Blues" — Satirical comedy about a $100-a-trick-hooker and a group of zany characters attempting to rebuild a plane with stolen parts. Violence, vulgarities in dialogue, sex.

"Touch of Class" — Sophisticated French bedroom farce. An expose of the difficulties inherent in an extra-marital affair. Frank sexual scenes and language.

"Triple Irons" — Bloody sword fighting tale. More gore than ever before. Another chop and sock movie.

ADULTS ONLY

"Cries and Whispers" — Psychological drama in early 1900s in Sweden. The fortunes and personalities of two sisters, who have returned home to a sister who is critically ill, is revealed. Nudity and sex.

"Don't Look In The Basement" — A new nurse arrives at an asylum where the doctor has been victim of an axe-murder. More murders occur and finally the inmates revolt. Grisly gore of the most violent nature. (Boxoffice Magazine)

"Last House on the Left" — Two young girls are raped and slowly tortured to death by a gang of drug addicts. Parents of the girls find their bodies and get revenge on the gang with a power saw. Undiluted blood and gore and sadism are explicit in detail.

"Midnight Cowboy" — A young Texan comes to New York to work as a male prostitute. He is exploited and then befriended by a crippled cheap chiseler. Their relationship contains hard-hitting depressing scenes. Well acted.

"Siddartha" — Allegorical tale about a young man in ancient India who is seeking the meaning of life. Beautiful photography but wordy and slow-paced. Sexual scenes very explicit.

"Where's Poppa" — Hard hitting black comedy about a senile, foul-mouthed mother who makes life for her sons a nightmare. Attempts to lead a life of their own is plot. Rape, nudity and obscenities throughout.

New Kind Of Grid Injury: The Armchair

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — There is a new kind of football injury. You get it while watching the game on television.

"Most fans don't realize the harm they are doing to their bodies by sitting for hours in front of the television set in an overstuffed chair or sofa," said the report by Dr. Gene E. McKinley, secretary of the county chiropractic society.

The lungs do not fully expand, the heart and large blood vessels are compressed, the body becomes starved for oxygen at the same time that digestion is impaired, he said, adding that the result is "gastric distress" that "in serious cases will manifest (itself) with the same symptoms as a cardiovascular attack."

Presley's Mail

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Baptist Hospital has received as many as 5,000 letters a day since Elvis Presley was hospitalized Oct. 15 with pneumonia. Presley goes home sometime this week.

BETTY FRIEDAN

Feminist Leader Traces Movement

By BARBARA HOSMER

"What I see is that our women's movement for equality was the first stage of a profound sex-role revolution," feminist Betty Friedan told a Marin audience last night at the College of Marin gym.

The women, who many have said touched off the modern feminist movement with her 1963 book "The Feminine Mystique" and her founding of the National Organization for Women, warned that seeing men as the enemy is a dead-end street.

"Man is the not the enemy — man is a victim. There is the feminine mystique and a masculine mystique. The goal is really human liberation."

It's impossible to see the women's movement as sex class-warfare, she said. "Some who grew up in the civil rights movement believed that class warfare applied to the blacks, and there were analogies with class warfare in all the previous movements in history for liberation."

"The rhetoric of class warfare would seem to apply to the women's movement because there was so much hostility" from women being kept in second class status and which women put upon their own bodies because they couldn't face the actual situation, she explained.

"Resentment by women came out in the open and you could see man was the enemy. But to see our revolution in those terms is to ignore the profound and real sexual bond between man and woman," she told the audience of about 600.

"IF THERE was sex class-warfare, we'd lose. Men have too much power to give it all up and women haven't the will" for such separatism. "There is too much value that is real that women have experienced in motherhood. The ideal is to change the role made of motherhood. . .Women were defined in the past too much as sex objects. It dehumanized sex," she said.

"Women are not about to pay the price of renunciation of sexuality. . . It would be a dull island with no men at all," she stated. "Somehow we must adjust in this transitional period we're going through," she said of the women's movement and relationship between men and women.

"The women's movement is the necessary first step and no one can take it for us."

The male sex role revolution was unconsciously going on at the same time as the women's movement, she said. Long-haired men were saying, "I don't have to be dominant to prove I'm a man. I can be tender; I can be sensitive, compassionate; I can admit I'm afraid, and I can even cry and I'm a man."

"Those young men will not die 10 years earlier than their wives," she remarked. If all men ultimated the male machismo definition of masculinity, they would be losers, she added.

MEN SUPPORT women's liberation because it will help liberate them from the bear-killer definition of masculinity, she said.

"Both old definitions of male-female roles isolated us from making us men and women. If we could not know ourselves, how could we know each other?" The sex roles were polarized, and history has shown that where women have been squelched, sex is always an obsession, she stated and cited the Playboy bunny era of recent times and the Victorian decades in which sex "is always seen as dirty" and there is a profound alienation of human needs. "And finally, in such society, violence breeds, as in our recent past, in the Nazi era and in other times past."

"It is necessary to liberate both men and women (from past role definitions) to what each can be, and then it might really be possible for men and women to make love, not war," the author said.

Betty Friedan traced the gains that the women's movement has made in the decade since her book came out, adding that there have been those who have tried to co-opt the movement, just as there were in the anti-war and black liberation movements.

BUT, SHE said, the women's movement is far more than one or two organizations. "The movement is a caucus of women in every office, conference, progressional organization, school, taking action against the concrete conditions that oppress women. Also, the establishment women's organizations are becoming feminist in their goals. Women in labor unions, black women and, finally, the famous, rich wives now say that the women's movement speaks for them."

Much of the gain to date has been tokenism, but the difference from earlier token women is that those who make it will help the others up, she said.

AUTHOR BETTY Friedan tells a Marin audience that the women's movement is the first step in a complete sex-role revolution for women and men, both victims of an unreal sex-role image. She spoke last night at the College of Marin, sponsored by its concert-lecture series, Women on the Move and Marin Chapter, National Organization for Women. (Photo by Alfred Arn)

Bath Oil Soak

Too much hot water and scrubbing with harsh soaps and cleansers will deplete skin of its natural lubricants, but a once a day soak in a warm tub to which a capful of a therapeutic bath oil has been added should help to sooth and smooth dry skin.

Having your car fixed is usually a pain in the neck.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

There's Not Joy In Lovemaking Though She Has Good Husband

DEAR HELEN:

My husband has always been sexually demanding, but I didn't mind when we were first married. Then after our baby came, he stopped paying attention to both of us and followed his own pursuits. But his demands kept up. I got the feeling he only wanted me for sex, and started losing interest. Frankly, I never got much pleasure from lovemaking but only did it to please him.

Now, after four years of marriage, my husband has changed. He treats me and our son with much love and respect in every way. But I still recoil at sex, though I don't refuse him. He probably realizes this, but I wouldn't know what to tell him if he questioned me. I guess I'm just a failure.

He's a good husband and father and I care for him, but how can I love him when I'm — LITTLE MISS FRIGID

DEAR FRIGID:

Isn't it sad? Married couples can discuss everything from child raising to budgets, but about the part of their lives that concerns them most personally, and which requires real sharing — they remain disastrously mum.

For heaven's sakes, talk to your husband about your problem. You aren't the first wife who "gets no enjoyment from sex." But you'll never learn what you're missing until you can discuss your reactions without embarrassment or fear.

Next, read some of Masters and Johnson's articles on sexual inadequacy and response, and again, discuss them with your man. Then, forget all that worry about your "lacks" and relax. When you stop making sex such a tremendous effort (or chore) you may learn much about its joys. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Regarding "Lewis F. For God and Country": He's got to be putting you on! (Note from H: He was dead serious, and so were a number of right-of-rightists who agreed with him.)

This man is fighting a war in his own narrow mind. Does he think the minds of our young people will be "captured by the enemy" (shades of Archie Bunker) just because an advice columnist allows a mother to speak out about premarital sex? Does he think this generation invented "fleeping"? (Love that word.)

Thank God, this country allows our young people to hear all sides, thus they're able to make their own decisions from a variety of choices. The mother's letter created lively discussion in our family, and I learned more about the strong moral standards of our daughters and sons from this than I would in a whole series of lectures about "How to keep your children pure."

Lewis evidently wants to set up Communistic-type censorship in the United States, in the name of saving us from Communism. — FOR FREE MINDS

DEAR HELEN:

Was horrified at "Lewis F.'s" crudeness, bigotry and gall. I bet he's the type who spouts those phony "Dusseldorf Rules for Revolution" which have been proved totally false but which one of my frightened friends still uses to "prove" her fears.

Anyone who thinks premarital sex is a Communistic plot is a little weird.

The woman to whom Lewis was referring is a sensible mother: she realizes her daughters' viewpoints are changing and she is preparing herself for them, even though she still can't wholeheartedly accept.

Let's hope there aren't too many people like Lewis F.! — FAITH

DEAR FAITH:

According to my mail, they're quite plentiful, or perhaps they seem so because the far-far-rightists always write. You'd be surprised how many people still worship Sen. Joseph McCarthy as a "man hounded to death by liberals who refused to look at the evidence he presented" . . . And how many people label any social change "the work of the Red Rats." — H.

Some Interesting Facts On The Working Wife Of Today

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — We working wives knew it all along. Now comes a detailed study of the work load carried by today's female of the species, showing that it is much heavier despite all the hoopla about labor-saving devices.

In short, we're working harder than our mothers and grandmothers and great-grandmothers. Our family lifestyle has become what one sociologist calls "the harried leisure class." The technology of the 1970s has not really given us more leisure time.

Present day hours spent in household work compared with half a century ago are examined in the current "Journal of Home Economics", official publication of the American Home Economics Association (AHEA).

It's written by Dr. Kathryn E. Walker, who is leading a continuing study of the subject at Cornell University. She says that when home economists first began to study the length of a woman's work week 50 years ago, they found it to be 42 to 49 hours.

TODAY, THE employed woman works a 66-to 75-hour week at combined job and household duties.

"It is probably true," she says, "that as we are released from one household job by new products and new services, we choose to give that released time to the things we were not able to get done yesterday or that we had not done as well as we wished."

For instance. Because it is so much easier to wash clothes in an automatic washer than on a washboard, we now wash clothing and linens more frequently than we used to and total time spent on laundry has not decreased perceptibly. The same analogy could be worked out for many other kinds of housework.

Miss Walker, in examining the "why," says the tendency to do more work each week seems to be related to the fact that families have many more goals than they used to —some achievable by doing more household work and some achievable with the extra money earned in outside employment.

IN TODAY'S affluent world, we encompass more of what we want to do —more acquisitions to care for, more rooms to clean, a bigger yard to mow and plant and prune, more clothes to care for, more foods to choose from, and more exotic recipes to prepare.

It is here that she quotes Staffan Burenstam Linder's reference to us all as "the harried leisure class."

Dr. Walker says her findings are based on talks with some 1,400 families selected at random from a large population stratified by rural, urban or suburban location, number of children, age of the youngest and oldest child, and in families without children the age of the wife.

The research showed the average amount of time spent o housework by employed women ranged from four to eight hours daily. The average for the nonemployed homemaker ranged from five to 12 daily.

She asks whether this means that employed women are more efficient because they have time pressures. "We have no answers," she says. "We can only speculate."

OF THE FAMILIES studied, the researchers found that a husband contributed in addition to his regular employment an average of 11 hours each week to household chores. If his wife takes on an outside job, his average weekly household work hours do not increase.

As for the children's contribution, the average daily work time with one or more teenagers was about 1 hour per teenager. In larger families their contribution did play a significant role in running the household.

Actress Tired Of Same Film Roles

By JOAN LISETOR

A sweet, refined lady is the way Toni Sawyer is type cast for films, so the actress finds the stage a more exciting medium.

A San Rafael resident for seven years, Toni Sawyer is playing two roles in the Artists Enterprise Theater's opening season production of "The Year Boston Won the Pennant."

"One role is a plan nurse, unkempt, who helps to kidnap a baby," she said. "For a contrast I also play the wife of a Hollywood producer; she's a little tipsy. I guess you would call her 'neuvo chic.' "

Mrs. Sawyer is also the publicist for the company, San Francisco's newest professional theater, which opens Wednesday.

A native of Massachusetts, she first acted in children's theater productions directed by her mother.

"I got up on the stage and loved it. I guess that was the beginning," she said.

Other children's theater performances followed and then college. She majored in drama at Vermont College and appeared in plays there.

Marriage to Arleigh Sawyer followed, and his career with the federal government caused them to move frequently throughout the country. Wherever they went Mrs. Sawyer became involved in theater until her sons were born.

"I took the time off from acting while the boys were small, and as soon as they were old enough I made a beeline back to the stage," she said.

Her oldest son is a junior at the University of California at Berkeley and the youngest is a senior at Terra Linda High School. Arleigh Sawyer is director of Bay Area Comprehensive Health Planning.

Her acting and modeling schedule is especially busy now, Mrs. Sawyer said, so she has had to give up teaching nursery school, which she enjoys very much.

Actors hit such lulls, she said, that one can go from a busy period into a period when there is little or no work. She is also with the Plays For Living company, which performs plays about social issues.

As with many actresses who combine family life with performing, she is not certain where she would like her career to lead.

"I am happy with this company. We are doing off Broadway shows and would like to be thought of in San Francisco as an 'off Geary' theater," she said.

"But maybe I would like to try my luck in Los Angeles," she said.

TEEN RAP Session, 9:30 a.m. to noon, Planned Parenthood Association Office, San Rafael.

Applications Are Still Available For Preschool

Applications for the free state-funded preschool program at Manzanita School in Marin City are still being accepted, according to Joseph H. Denhart, director of Children's Centers and Compensatory Preschool programs for the County of Marin Superintendent of Schools office.

"While this program is now in its sixth year, there was some confusion about its continuance," Denhart said, "since state funding was lost and only reinstated in late August."

Fifty-four children can be accommodated in three-hour sessions from 9 a.m. to noon each weekday, with bus transportation provided for children from Sausalito to San Rafael.

Children from 3 to 5 years of age, from economically disadvantaged homes, are eligible for enrollment. Hot lunches and mid-morning snacks are included in the daily schedule.

"Eighty per cent of the children in the program come from single-parent families," Denhart said. He indicated that many mothers are able to accept part-time employment in the morning hours while the children are attending the preschool.

There are three classrooms, each supplied with a certified teacher and a teacher assistant. In one classroom Montessori methods are used, in another cooking, sewing, woodworking, music, dancing and dramatic play are encouraged, and in the third, language arts and reading readiness are introduced.

Inquiries may be made to Denhart at the County Superintendent of Schools office or to Helen Williams, teacher in charge of the Manzanita Children's Center.

"Volunteers with special skills in music, art or storytelling would be welcomed," Denhart said.

Country Day School Will Host Writers

A dozen Bay Area authors of children's books and more serious nonfiction and historical works will attend a literary sherry tonight from 5 through 8 p.m. at Marin Country Day School.

The gathering of parent group members and friends of the school will be held in the multi-purpose room of the school in Corte Madera.

'Pop' Has Right To Be Proud

By SANDRA HAGGERTY
(Distributed by Los Angeles Times Syndicate)

"Better for me to wup 'em than for the police to shoot 'em," recollected "Pop" Staples, father and male member of the family singing group, the Staple Singers.

"Family is a hard, hard thing. It has to be handled."

We were discussing some of the problems facing black families today.

"When the kids were coming up, we lived in the ghetto in Chicago. Both my wife and I had to work to make it. We took turns baby-sitting the children, and many times we didn't know where the next meal was coming from. The whole family had to cooperate. It didn't hurt them one bit to follow a few family rules, to be disciplined."

Daughters Mavis, Cleo and Yvonne, now radiant young black women, laughed when asked to show the scars of their childhood discipline.

THERE APPEARS to be considerable confusion these days on how much discipline and what kind a family should have. Extreme measures — too strict and unreasonable boundaries to no guidelines whatsoever — are obviously not the answer.

Some parents, unwisely and unsuccessfuly, subcontract the job of discipline to the schools and churches and other public agencies.

Observing youngsters with no parental input with regard to discipline (not physical punishment, but boundaries and guidelines for family membership), it appears that even poor guidelines are better than no guidelines. Children are still children.

Ultimately, many young people come to evaluate parental free reign as "not caring" or "too busy doing their own thing."

Ideally, there should be a balance.

"I give my kids respect," said "Pop," "and they reciprocate. Children must be allowed to have their say, too. Parents must listen — honestly listen and learn. At the same time, as parents (who supposedly have some sense, a consequence of more years of living) we have to set some reasonable limits for our youngsters. A little discipline never killed nobody."

It's ironic how some family members still reserve good behavior for "company" and "outsiders." Pop suggests we re-examine how we treat each other within our families.

"The Golden Rule has been put down in some circles, but it still works for us. Treat people the way you want to be treated. Family members must respect each other," he said.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

THIRD SECTION SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1973 29

CAMPUS VISIT — Bobby Seale, militant revolutionist of the 1960s, explains to students at College of Marin how seeking reform through political action has replaced barricading the streets and battling with guns. He visited the Student Center yesterday as guest lecturer in the regular Thursday noon program devoted to speakers on political matters.

No Stand Taken On Tax Ballot

For about six hours yesterday, the North Central Coast Regional Commission officially was on record against Proposition 1, the governor's tax limitation measure on Tuesday's ballot.

The position was voted in the afternoon session when nine of the 14 commissioners were present, but was rescinded when all members attended the evening meeting in San Rafael City Hall.

The afternoon vote was 5-to-1, with three abstentions. The item was not on the agenda.

San Francisco Supervisor Robert Mendelsohn argued unsuccessfully last night the proposition would hurt the prospect of the commission getting needed extra funds from the state. He is seeking the Democratic nomination next year for state controller.

The final vote on a motion to take no position at all won 9 to 5. Marin County Supervisor Michael Wornum and Marin County Planning Commissioner Margaret Azevedo were among the minority.

Yule Ornaments Will Be Sold

Approximately 1,000 handmade original Christmas ornaments will be sold Nov. 10 in the dayroom of the student dormitory at Guide Dogs for the Blind, San Rafael.

The sale will be from 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. except for an hour starting at 2:30 p.m. when graduation ceremonies are held.

The decorations are varied, including animals, beaded balls and music box Christmas trees. They have been donated to Guide Dogs by Mrs. James Craddock and Mrs. Arthur Palmer of Woodacre who made them.

Two velvet-matted Christmas tree plaques in three dimensions will be given away.

Coastal Panel Rejects Synanon's Building Plan

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Synanon's application to build six single-family homes on its Tomales Bay property was rejected unanimously last night by the North Central Coast Regional Commission.

No permit for expansion will be granted until the organization revises both its master plan and a county use permit for the 62-acre property, commissioners agreed.

Spokesmen for Synanon offered to come back with a new master plan within a week, but the commission insisted a new plan must be accompanied by a new permit setting growth limits.

Also rejected was a permit application for a single-family home at Oceana Marin. Landslide and public access problems must be resolved before allowing further construction in the subdivision, commissioners agreed.

Both denials were recommended by the commission's staff. Chester Coppin, a Sacramento appliance dealer and the unhappy owner of the Oceana Marin lot, said he will appeal to the state coast commission — which never has overruled a regional commission denial of a permit.

An attorney for Synanon, Philip C. Bourdette, said he "did not know" if it also will appeal.

Synanon originally asked for approval of eight buildings, but last night withdrew two from the application. The cut, however, failed to meet objections by the commission's staff that the prefabricated metal buildings "would add an undesirable urbanizing effect to this predominantly rural area."

Only 35 persons were in the audience when the issue came up at 10:30 p.m., 90 minutes later than initially scheduled.

Opposing the Synanon application were Californians Organized to Acquire Access to State Tidelands (COAST), Environmental Action Committee of West Marin, Bay Chapter of the Sierra Club, Inverness Association and Marin Conservation League.

Arguing unsuccessfully for approval of the homes for the organization's executives, Dian Keeny, a resident of its Tomales Bay property, said water was too short there to allow more than the current 137 residents.

Frank McFarlin, Synanon's vice president in charge of construction and engineering, said new housing was needed to relieve severe overcrowding. Some residents have lived for three years in "nothing but a bunkhouse," he said, and one-man rooms are jammed with up to four persons.

He insisted no plans exist for "any extended growth" at the Tomales Bay facility.

Plans announced six years ago to build a city on the property came before purchase of two West Marin ranches that will absorb growth that might have gone on the bayfront property, McFarlin said.

Water was so short on the property that it had to be trucked in during the past two summers and residents were limited to two showers a week, he added.

Coppin, owner of the disputed Oceana Marin lot, argued unsuccessfully it was unfair for the commission to demand solutions to problems of the entire subdivision since he had no control over it.

Commissioner Melville Owen of Ross suggested it might be best if property owners sued the developer of the subdivision to get him to comply with the commission's requirements.

Benjamin P. Bonelli of Belvedere, top officer of the Frisco Land and Mining Co., the developer, has most of the votes in the homeowners' association since a majority of the lots are unsold.

Coppin's application was denied 10-to-4.

Action on a second application for a home at Oceana Marin, filed by Dr. Walter Byck of Santa Rosa, was postponed to the Nov. 15 meeting to give time to get engineering data to support the safety of his proposed cliffside home.

North Central Coast Regional Commission also:

STINSON — Received a report from executive director Michael Fischer that Stinson Beach property owners are rushing to beat a proposed ban on new construction. The State Water Resources Control Board will vote Nov. 15 on whether to impose the ban.

HOMES — Approved permits for five single-family houses, two at Stinson Beach, one at Salmon Creek in Sonoma County and two at Sereno del Mar north of Bodega Bay.

MARIN — Granted a blanket permit to the Marin County Public Works Department for routine maintenance and repair of roadways in the 1,000-yard coastal zone.

Sears Seeks Owners Of Dishwashers

I-J Special Report

HAYWARD — Sears, Roebuck and Co. is attempting to contact owners of some 65,000 portable dishwashers, some of which were sold in Marin and other parts of the Bay Area.

The dishwashers have a possible safety hazard, according to a company spokesman, because the doors pinch motor wires and can produce an electrical shock if not properly grounded.

The six models involved were heavily advertised, the spokesman said.

If owners will contact the nearest Sears store, a repairman will fix the dishwashers so they are safe, according to the spokesman.

The models are numbers 587,-720,210; 587,720,211; 587,720,310; 587,720,311; 587,720,410, and 587-720,411.

AT COLLEGE OF MARIN

Seale Tells New Panther Policy

By BILL ROBERTS

There were no guns in evidence and no burly guards at the side of the speaker. No shouts of revolution or hatred pierced the air.

And even when the speaker opened his remarks with a rousing "Power to the people," he received only a token "Right on," from a few members of the audience.

The scene seemed hardly appropriate for Bobby Seale, cofounder and national chairman of the Black Panther Party, a group which took their guns into the streets of Oakland in 1966 to eradicate "police brutality" as they saw it.

Seale spoke yesterday of working "within the system" for social change to a gathering which he estimated at 1,000 persons but which was closer to 300 at the College of Marin.

Billed "New Directions of the Black Panther Party," Seale's speech centered on the use of "the system" to remove the "corporate interests and corrupt politicians" which permeate "the system."

Seale talked of his own recent campaign for mayor of Oakland in which he was defeated in a runoff election with Mayor John Reading by 33,767 votes, almost a 2-to-1 margin. A candidate for the state Legislature in 1968, Seale indicated that political activity is not something new to the party.

But after describing the efforts of "brothers off the streets" during the first four years of the party, efforts which included guns and violence, Seale settled into a description of social programs which he said are the party's concern today.

He described a school being run by the party in Oakland to offer "alternative education" to the young, saying most classes are conducted in halls of justice and other governmental institutions.

"We don't tell them all cops and judges are pigs," said Seale. He concluded the youngsters can judge for themselves after seeing most tickets and fines go to poor blacks.

He said the Black Panther Party's philosophy is "human philosophy" intended to get proole involved in programs for their own benefit. "Politics is organizing people around their basic needs," Seale said.

To that end, he said his future efforts would be to register 20,000 black voters in Oakland.

He said he would give each a bag of groceries complete with chicken and steaks if that is what is necessary to gain their involvement.

Dressed in knit pants with sports coat and tie, the 36-year-old Seale hardly looked the part of the Black Panther who received national headlines as a member of the "Chicago Seven" or during his own lengthy murder trial in Connecticut.

In an interview following the speech, Seale maintained that he has no further political plans at this time and will spend his time "organizing and implementing plans in the community."

Seale claimed there is no great change in the Bobby Seale people heard about when he was bound and gagged by a judge during his trial on riot conspiracy charges connected with the Democratic National Convention in 1968.

He claimed that shaking 30,-000 hands during the Oakland mayor's race had done just as much to change him.

He quoted party cofounder Huey P. Newton's philosophy that no purpose would be served if Seale remained bitter following his incarceration on charges which were never officially proven against him.

Seale predicted it might take another 10 years for the party to begin realizing results from its "people involvement" programs. But he said it won't be that far in the future before "the people," meaning Oakland's minorities, control at least five of the nine seats on the city's council.

Search Off For Novato Woman

I-J Special Report

MARTINEZ — The search for a Novato woman, who disappeared from a Moraga home she was visiting, has been dropped by Contra Costa County sheriff's deputies.

Patricia A. Garner, 51, was last seen Oct. 6 when she told her brother-in-law, Clyde Frelan of Moraga, that she was planning to "take a long walk to relieve tension." She had been despondent over the death of her husband Oct. 1 and of her son a month earlier.

Sheriff's investigators said today, "we've searched a very large area several times, but we have no further idea where she may have gone."

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

No Proof That Iron From Pots Is Absorbed Into The System

Cast iron pots and pans have been standard cooking equipment for hundreds of years. It was generally believed that some of the iron got into the food which, in turn, was absorbed by the body to help prevent iron deficiency anemia. But housewives gradually discarded these utensils for Corning Ware, and those made of Teflon, and other materials that are much easier to clean. It meant that this source of iron was greatly reduced. Some blame our current iron deficiency on the virtual disappearance of cast iron cooking utensils.

This is an opinion and not a fact. Investigators are not in agreement, even though it might appear to be a simple, easily-solved problem. The iron content of certain foods has been tested before and after cooking in a cast iron pot or pan, with conflicting results.

THERE IS some agreement that highly acidic foods, such as spaghetti sauce, absorb some of the metal when cooked in iron pots for several hours.

The age of and care given the cast iron equipment may also play a role. The absorption is greater when uncoated, poorly cared for, cast iron cooking utensils are used. But we still do not know how much iron gets into the food and whether it is beneficial to our diet.

But this is only a part of the story. Forgetting for the time being that cast iron ware might add to the iron content of food, Gerhard S. Sharon, writing in Nutrition Today, has researched the subject and finds that cast iron cooking utensils still are popular all over this country.

ACCORDING TO the manufacturers of these items, the level of sales has been maintained for the last 25 years. Furthermore, 10 per cent more iron was consumed in foods in 1965 than in 1909 when iron pots and pans were widely used. It is now another 5 to 10 per cent greater. According to Sharon, the iron intake was not the highest during the "Iron Age of American Cookery."

All of this makes me question whether iron pots and pans played a role in adding to our iron intake. At present, there is talk about adding additional iron to breads and flours. Actually, there is no reason for concern so long as you eat meat, liver, vegetables, fruits, and other foods containing iron.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to Dr. Van Dellen, c/o the Independent-Journal, P.O. Box 330, San Rafael, Ca. 94902. Telephone inquiries will not be answered.

TALKATIVE MOTHER

A reader writes: My mother is a marathon talker. Is there any charitable way to sell her on the importance of quiet moments of meditation? Her chattering is driving me up the wall.

REPLY

If the "talk, talk, talk" is a manifestation of senility, your physician might prescribe a sedative or tranquilizer to tone down your mother's chatter. Why not divert her attention with little chores, gardening, or radio or TV programs?

PAIN BETWEEN RIBS

M. H. writes: Can intercostal neuralgia be cured?

REPLY

Yes, provided the cause can be eliminated. In this condition, there is pain between the ribs that originates in the nerve in this area. The nerve may be pinched by the vertebrae of the spine, injured, or inflamed. Surgery may be needed when the cause is elusive and pain is unbearable.

Benefits Tied To Payroll Hike

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Although Congress is moving toward another boost in Social Security benefits, it now appears likely it will seek a rise in payroll taxes to help pay for it.

"The Social Security system is getting altogether too much out of actuarial balance," Acting Ways and Means Chairman Al Ullman, D-Ore., said yesterday "I don't think it is fiscally responsible for the Congress to act on Social Security increases without dealing with the actuarial balance."

It was the first time a raise in pay roll taxes has been linked with increased benefits. The Senate Finance Committee has already approved a 7 per cent boost in benefits with no tax increase.

San Rafael, air quality yesterday:
Oxidants, clean air.
Nitrogen dioxide, clean air.
Carbon monoxide, clean air.
Smoke particles, clean air.
Other areas:
San Francisco, clean air.
San Jose, light air pollution.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources but the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

Chocolate Toffee-Coffee Pie Takes The Spotlight

CHOCOLATE TOFFEE-COFFEE PIE

Enough pie crust for a 9-inch pie
¼ brown sugar firmly packed
¾ cup chopped walnuts
1 square unsweetened chocolate, grated
1 tsp. vanilla

Chocolate-coffee filling:
½ cup butter
¾ cup sugar
1 square unsweetened chocolate, melted and cooled
2 tsp. instant coffee (expresso is best)

Whipped cream topping:
1 cup heavy cream
2 tsp. instant coffee
1 tbsp. confectioner's sugar

Pastry: Make pie dough according to directions, making sure it is crumbled very fine. Blend in sugar, nuts, and grated chocolate. Remove 1 tablespoon of mixture and sprinkle in shallow pan to be baked same time as crust. Ad water and vanilla to remaining pastry. Blend well. Press firmly into bottom and sides of well-buttered 8 or 9 inch pie pan. Moisten fingers with cold water for easy handling of pastry. Bake crust at 350 degrees for about 10 minutes. Bake separate pastry crumbs five minutes. Cool.

Filling: Cream butter. Add sugar gradually, beating until light and fluffy. Stir in chocolate and instant coffee. Add eggs, one at a time, beating five minutes after each. Use hand beater or electric mixer on medium speed. Pour into cool English toffee pastry shell.

Topping: Whip cream until stiff. Fold in instant coffee and confectioner's sugar. Spread topping on pie. Sprinkle with crumbs previously separated. Chill two hours before serving.

Serves six.

Recipe origin unknown (came from a friend in the East Bay). "I love this recipe because its taste and superb flavor is like a true gourmet treat and it's so easy to make."

Cranberry Juice, Gelatin, Grapes Form Base For Holiday Salad-Mold

Holiday entertaining calls for extra food but need not call for all that much more time and effort to still be beautifully eye-appealing and palate satisfying.

YULETIDE SALAD
For The Holiday Buffet

3 packages (3 oz. each) lemon flavor gelatin
2 envelopes (2 tablespoons) unflavored gelatin
3 cups cranberry juice cocktail
3 cups boiling water
3 to 4 Bananas, sliced crosswise
1 red skinned apple, cored and sliced into thin wedges
½ cup walnut halves or large pieces
½ cup white seedless grapes, halved
Maraschino cherries to garnish
Green pepper or sweet red pepper from which to cut a star for garnishing top of mold

Soften unflavored gelatin in small amount of the cranberry juice. Dissolve lemon gelatin in boiling water. Mix in softened plain gelatin and continue stirring until all gelatin is in solution. Add cranberry juice and blend. Cool to room temperature, then place in refrigerator until sirupy in texture.

Pour some gelatin into a tower or cone shaped mold to depth of ½ inch. Place banana slices in gelatin and refrigerate until ingredients set. Add more sirupy gelatin for depth of another inch. Place fruits and nut meats in a casual but pleasing arrangement. Return to refrigerator until gelatin sets and fruits are held firmly in place. Continue adding gelatin and fruits, one layer at a time until mold is full. Refrigerate several hours but preferably overnight. Invert and unmold onto attractive light colored flat dish or platter which will permit maximum amount of light to filter through the gelatin, thus showing the outline of the fruits and nuts.

With a sharp knife cut a star from a green pepper or a red sweet pepper. Insert one end of a tooth pick into star and other end into top of gelatin; thus securing star.

SAUSAGE STUFFING for the turkey and a menu of glazed carrots and brussel sprouts and plum pudding for dessert is excellent holiday feasting fare.

Sausage Stuffing Balls Can Bring Sparkle To Old-Fashioned Bird

The old-fashioned flavor of turkey is delicious enough. But sparked up with sausage stuffing balls, it's really something special.

A mixture of sausage, celery, onion, cranberries, eggs, and seasoned stuffing mix is formed into balls, then baked in the oven.

SAUSAGE STUFFING BALLS

1 pound bulk pork sausage
½ cup chopped celery
¼ cup chopped onion
1 8-ounce package herb-seasoned stuffing mix
½ cup fresh cranberries, chopped
1 well-beaten egg
1 cup chicken broth
¼ cup butter or margarine, melted

In skillet, cook sausage, celery, and onion until meat is slightly browned and vegetables are tender. Spoon off excess fat. In large bowl, combine meat mixture and stuffing and toss lightly. Stir in chopped cranberries, egg, and chicken broth. Mix well. Shape mixture into 8 to 10 balls. Place in 15-½ x 10-½ x 1-inch baking pan. Brush with melted butter. Bake in 325 degree F. oven 30 minutes. Makes eight to 10 servings.

GLAZED CARROTS AND BRUSSELS SPROUTS

1 pound carrots, cut in 1-½ inch pieces
2 10-ounce packages frozen Brussels Sprouts
2 tbls. chopped onion
1 Tbls. butter or margarine
1 10-½ ounce can condensed consomme
⅓ cup apple juice
2 tsp. lemon juice
2 tbls. cornstarch
1 tbls. brown sugar
Generous dash ground clove

Cook carrots and brussels sprouts; drain. Meanwhile, in saucepan, cook onion in butter until tender. Add remaining ingredients. Cook, stiring until thickened. Combine with hot vegetables. Makes eight servings.

ROYAL PLUM PUDDING

1 1-pound can or jar purple plums
1 14-½ ounce package gingerbread mix
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup light raisins
½ cup chopped nuts
Fluffy Hard Sauce

Drain plums (about 15 minutes). Remove pits and cut in pieces. Prepare gingerbread mix according to package directions, adding salt, plum pieces. Stir in raisins and nuts. Pour into a well greased 6-cup mold. Bake in 350 degree oven 65 to 70 minutes. Cool for 10 minutes. Loosen edges and unmold on serving plate. Makes 10 servings.

FLUFFY HARD SAUCE

½ cup butter or margarine
2 cups sifted powdered sugar
1 egg yolk, beaten
1 tsp. vanilla
1 egg white, stiffly beaten

Thoroughly cream together butter and powdered sugar. Stir in beaten egg yolk and vanilla. Fold in beaten egg white. Chill well.

Pies Of Chicken And Tasty Crust

Holiday COOK BOOK RECIPE CONTEST WINNERS 1973

From Mrs. Margaret Smith, 13 West Court, San Anselmo.

INDIVIDUAL CHICKEN PIES

1 large fryer (3 lbs. or more)
3 cups water salt and pepper bay leaf, parsley sprig slice of onion
part of celery stalk with leaves

Simmer fryer, partially cut up, in water, adding salt and pepper and remaining ingredients. Cook gently until tender one-half hour or more, turning pieces at least once. Cool. Drain off broth into glass jar and refrigerate (this is gravy liquid for the pies, the fat will harden at the top). Remove chicken from the bones, dice and refrigerate until ready to assemble pies. (Yield should be 1 to 1¼ lbs. of chicken for 8 pies).

Pie Crust:

2 cups flour
1 tsp. flour
1 tsp. salt
⅔ cup lard

Combine ingredients with just enough cold water to make the dough stick together. Wrap in plastic wrap and refrigerate.

1 medium onion, diced
¼ lb. mushrooms, cleaned and sliced
2 tbsp. melted butter
3 tbsp. chicken fat (from top of chilled broth)
3 tbsp. flour
2 cups chicken stock
2 tbsp. dry vermouth (optional)
salt and pepper to taste

Saute onion and mushrooms in melted butter until limp, not brown. Remove from pan and set aside. Add chicken fat to pan, melt and stir in flour. Cook and stir until flour begins to brown slightly. Gradually add the chicken stock and stir until blended and thickened. Add salt and pepper and dry vermouth, if desired. To assemble, divide the chicken pieces equally in 8 individual pie pans. Divide onion and mushrooms on top of chicken. Bits of broccoli can be added here for additional color and flavor. Spoon the gravy evenly over the top and stir each pie slightly. Remove pie crust from refrigerator and use a ball of it about the size of a small egg for each pie top. Roll out and cut to size about ½" larger circle than top of pie pan. Cover fillings with crusts, tucking under th extra ½" and crimp edges. Before baking, slit crust for steam and brush with milk. Bake at 450° until crust is golden brown. Serve immediately or keep warm in oven for short while.

These pies may be refrigerated for later baking or placed in heavy plastic bags and frozen for later baking. Baking time on frozen pies is about 35 minutes.

"This recipe originated with me, adapted from several recipes. I like it because it can be made ahead of time and frozen, and it is relatively low in calories, only having a top crust."

"We do more than just sell wine!"

TAKE THIS TIP . . .
ENJOY WINE WITHOUT FUSS and serve it without having to worry about doing the wrong thing. Learn to trust your own palate and serve the wines you enjoy the most. You may not enjoy a highly acclaimed wine, and you might come across a very enjoyable wine that lacks any reputation.

Its fun to experiment and try different wines with different dishes, and see how well each complements the other.

There is a wine for every taste. Red, White, Rose; light bodies or full-flavored; bone dry, medium dry, or sweet.

The simplist way to determine your own preferences is to choose an assortment of bottles or half bottles within the price range that interests you, and discover for yourself how much pleasure there can be in drinking wine.

We at the Villa Wine Cellar are most happy in helping you choose a wine, Without Fuss, from California or around the world that will make it a natural and enjoyable part of your life.

German Yule Bread Is A Rich Treat

From Irmgrad C. Koller, 189 Spring Grove Avenue, San Anselmo.

Holiday COOK BOOK RECIPE CONTEST WINNERS 1973

STOLLEN
(German Christmas Bread)

3 cups flour
1 cup cornstarch
1 egg
1 egg yolk
½ tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
½ cup milk
2 pkgs. dry yeast
3 tbsp. warm water
½ lb. (2 sticks) butter
½ cup sugar
2 tbsp. oil
¼ tsp. each mace, grated lemon rind
¼ tsp. each orange aroma, lemon aroma
½ tsp. almond aroma
1 tsp. cardamom
½ tsp. rum aroma
orange rind (optional)
7 oz. raisins, golden seedless raisins, and currants, mixed.
3 oz. blanched almonds, chopped
5 oz. candied lemon peel, orange peel or mixed candied fruits

Scald milk, cool to lukewarm. Dissolve yeast in warm water. Sift 1½ cups of the flour with salt and mix together with milk and yeast. Cover and let rise until doubled. Cream butter to consistency of mayonnaise and gradually add sugar. Add flavorings and eggs. Combine butter mixture with risen dough. Mix remaining flour and cornstarch, add baking powder slowly. Beat vigorously with wooden spoon or with dough hook in your electric mixer. Knead on floured board until dough is smooth and does not stick. If necessary add a bit more flour.

Press fruits and nuts into dough. Roll out to an oval, fold over to give stollen shape. Place on oiled cookie sheet. To prevent dough from spreading make a ring of foil (folded several times for strength) and fasten with a safety pin. (A metal ring may be used or, if available, a Stollen baking form). Let rise for 1½ hours. Dough will not quite double. Bake in a preheated 350° oven for 35-40 minutes or until nicely browned and done. Brush with melted butter before baking and again after. Cool on wire rack. When cold sprinkle with sieved powdered sugar or, if you prefer, decorate with lemon or rum glace, candied fruits and/or nuts. Wrap in well-clinging clear food wrap and store for several weeks. Finished Stollen weighs 3½ to 4 pounds.

A PUMPKIN filled with punch and trays of cheese spreads and crisp vegetables for dips make a party for the holidays. It's too late for halloween but pumpkins are always welcome fare in the fall and winter.

Punchkin Party? Yes, Party Punch In A Pumpkin With Hearty Food

Let a "punchkin party" brighten your holiday entertaining this year. The fun centers around a real pumpkin, filled with rum punch (although you can use a pretty punch bowl, if need be).

Use a sturdy kitchen knife to cut off the top of the pumpkin and scallop the edges. Reach in to pick out any stray seeds and smooth out the bottom. Pour the punch in and add ice.

Start your menu with deviled ham roll-ups. A hearty cheese ball and dip, served with crackers and vegetable sticks, are all that you need to round out a festive party.

RUM PUNCHKIN

1½ cups sugar
1 cup lemon juice
2 cups cranberry juice
2 cups orange juice
2 cups strong tea
2 bottles light rum

Pour into a hollowed out pumpkin shell. Add ice cubes. Makes 24 servings.

PICK-UP-STICKS DUNK

1 small onion, minced
¼ cup minced parsley
½ teaspoon seasoned salt
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 carton (8 oz.) cottage cheese
1 can minced clams or 1 jar smokey cheese spread or 1 can deviled ham

Prepare the vegetable "sticks", wrap in foil and chill. Combine the remaining ingredients and mix well. Chill until ready to serve.

Carrots, green peppers, cucumbers, turnips, mushrooms, cauliflower and other vegetables make attractive and good tasting "sticks" for dunking.

To serve, surround bowl of mixture with crunchy vegetable dippers for dunking. Makes about three cups.

DEVILED ROLL-UPS

1 loaf unsliced bread
1 can deviled ham
2 tablespoons chopped mustard pickle relish
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
Dash tabasco

Trim crusts from the unsliced bread. Cut loaf lengthwise into thin slices. Rool the slices with a rolling pin to make them flexible and prevent tearing.

Combine the remaining ingredients and spread on the bread slices. Roll the slices up like little jelly rolls, starting at the short end. Press firmly to seal the end, then spread each roll all over with a little soft butter, roll in finely minced parsley or sprinkle with bright colored paprika. Wrap the rolls tightly in foil or plastic and chill until ready to serve.

Cut the filled rolls into little rounds to serve. One loaf will make from 50 to 60 tiny "roll-ups".

DUTCH CHEESE BALLS
(a tangy spread)

1 gouda cheese (about 3 lbs.)
1 small white onion, minced
1 cup dairy sour cream
½ cup pecans, very finely chopped
Dash tabasco
3 tablespoons rum

Cut top off cheese, making the cut straight, zigzag or scalloped. Scoop out most of cheese leaving a shell about ¼-inch thick. Handle the cheese carefully so that red wax coating does not become torn or broken.

Grate the cheese, then combine in large mixer bowl with onion, sour cream and finely chopped nuts. Blend on medium speed until well mixed. Add a dash or so of tabasco, then add rum — a tablespoon at a time, beating in until cheese mixture is smooth and creamy.

Chill the cheese mixture until it firms slightly. Heap in cheese shell and continue chilling until ready to serve.

Serve surrounded with crackers, party rye and pumpernickel or melba toast. Makes enough for about 24 generous servings.

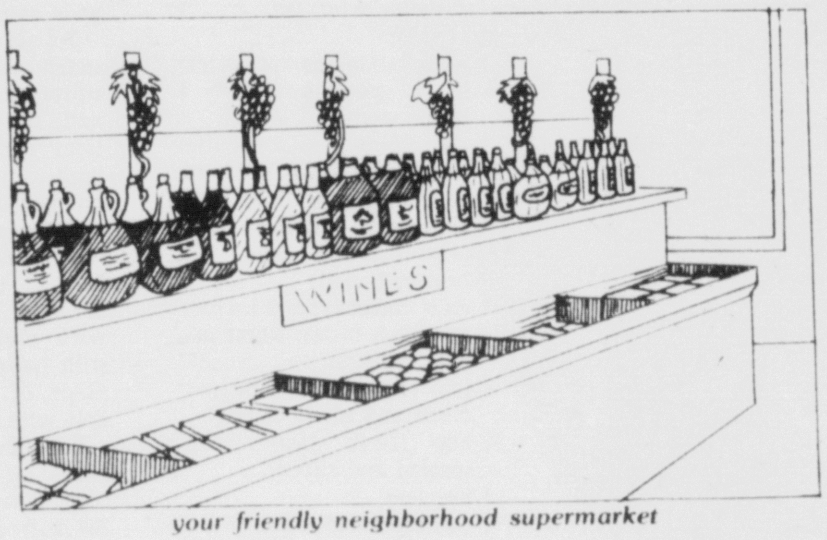
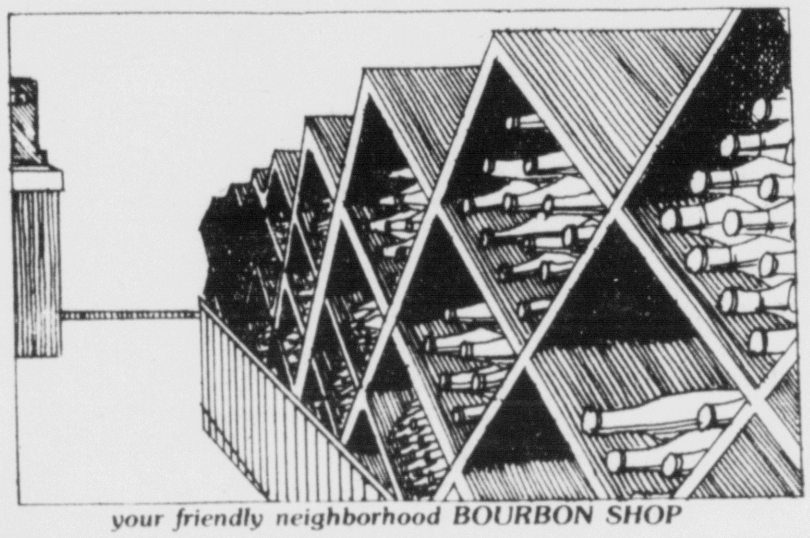
No Use Crying Over Spoiled Wine

One of the tricks about wine is that you store it on its side. If you store it standing up (on a supermarket shelf for instance) there is a space between the cork and the wine and the cork is apt to shrink and let in too much air and spoil the wine. And you sit down with your dinner guests and pour a glass of vintage vinegar for your husband's Uncle Harry who does his very best not to cringe.



your friendly neighborhood supermarket



your friendly neighborhood BOURBON SHOP

At the Bourbon Shops of Marin, we understand that wine is a living thing and we treat it accordingly. We store the wine on its side. This keeps the cork moist and lets in just enough air for proper bottle aging.

You know that your dinner will be good, because you taste it as you go along. We taste the wine that we sell. Let us help you select a wine that will compliment your fine dinner.

SPRITZ COOKIES in their varied shapes and colors are holiday treats of buttery rich dough which are fun to squirt from a cookie press. In decorating you can be as creative as you wish, using colored sugar or bits of candied fruits.

Spritz Cookies Are An Exquisite Treat During The Holiday Season

Among the most exquisite treats you can have for the holidays are the gaily ornamental spritz cookies. These are tiny bits of buttery rich dough, not too sweet, which come out of a cookie press in the magic shapes of Christmas: wreaths, Christmas trees, stars, camels, and a very decorative "S."

For decorating you can be as colorful and creative as you like, sprinkling the cookies with red and green sugar, adding chocolate bits to the wreaths, candied bits of cherries, citron or fruit peel for the trees and stars.

Of course, before decorating there's a gamut of flavors for the dough itself: almond spice, rum and nutmeg, chocolate or gingerbread.

Ingredients for a spritz dough are few, but good and true. There's butter, to the tune of two sticks; a small amount of sugar, an egg, flour, which is to be carefully measured so the cookies are very short, and the flavor you desire. You'll get eight to nine dozen cookies.

SPRITZ WITH VARIATIONS

1 cup (2 sticks) butter
½ cup sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
2¼ cups all-purpose flour

Cream butter; gradually add sugar and continue beating until blended. Beat in egg and vanilla. Gradually blend in flour. Fill cookie press. Using star attachment, form circles or S's on cookie sheets . . . or use other press designs. Decorate with sugar crystals, other candies or nuts or leave plain. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven, eight to ten minutes. Remove to wire rack to cool. Yield: eight to nine dozen.

VARIATIONS:

Rum and Nutmeg: Substitute rum extract for vanilla; mix in ½ teaspoon nutmeg with flour before adding to creamed mixture.

Chocolate: Add 1 square (1 oz.) semi-sweet chocolate, melted and cooled after vanilla.

GINGERBREAD SPRITZ

1 cup (2 sticks) butter
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup light molasses
1 egg
2½ cups all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon ginger
¼ teaspoon cloves

Cream butter; gradually add sugar and continue beating until blended. Beat in molasses and egg. Sift together flour, cinnamon, ginger and cloves. Gradually blend into creamed mixture. Fill cookie press. Using star attachment, form circles or S's on cookie sheets, or use other press designs. Bake in preheated 350 degree ove, eight to ten minutes. Remove to wire rack to cool. Yield: eight to nine dozen.

Marinated Ham Prepared Ahead

Holiday COOK BOOK RECIPE CONTEST WINNERS 1973

From Mrs. Estelle Radovich, 33 North Knoll Road, Mill Valley.

What is divinely rich, ready three days ahead, keeps well, mahogany pink in color and stretches servings and money?

SWEDISH MARINATED HAM

Prepare 4-6 days ahead — serves 12-15 hot entree or 20-30 cold buffet.

1 (8 lb.) canned lean ham. Drain juices, trim fat and save for soup, etc.

Marinade:

1 each onion, carrot, celery stalk (peel or wash & chop; saute)
1 tbsp. butter (place butter and vegetables in 1 qt. saucepan over low heat, simmer 6 minutes, until transparent but not browned. Add:
2 cups claret-type red wine
½ cup each brown sugar and cider vinegar
½ tsp. each crushed peppercorns and whole cloves
¼ cup fresh ginger root (peeled and sliced)
1 bay leaf
1 tsp. mace (optional)

Simmer all ingredients of marinade together 6 minutes, and remove from heat. Place trimmed whole ham in enamel, stainless steel or plastic bowl large enough to add marinade to cover ham. Pour boiling marinade over ham, let cool, cover and refrigerate for 3 to 5 days, depending on how richly flavored you wish ham to be. Turn ham daily.

To cook, remove ham and marinade from refrigerator and place in large kettle over medium heat. If necessary, add more wine to cover ham. Simmer gently 2 hours. When tender enough to pierce ham easily with fork, remove from heat and refrigerate in cooled marinade overnight.

To serve, remove ham from marinade, rinse under running water and drain. Reserve marinade for sauce, or freeze to use later with spareribs, etc. Slice ham as thin as cold cuts (your butcher may do this for you).

To serve cold on buffet with other cold cuts or cheese, cut into 40 to 50 2" x 3" slices, arrange on tray and garnish with clean cherry tomatoes with holly or parsley sprigs in place of tomato stems (make hole with toothpick).

To serve hot, arrange ham slices on ovenproof platter or tray. Cover with foil and heat in 200 degree oven 15 minutes.

Sauce: Thicken marinade with mixture of 1 tablespoon cornstarch mixed smooth with 2 tablespoons wine or water. Stir this mixture into marinade, simmering over low heat 5 minutes. Pour over heated ham. Garnish with pickled crab apples, parsley or herb sprigs.

"This is a Swedish recipe that I modified quite a bit (and added ginger) to prepare and serve at Marin Symphony's 1973 Dinner Cruise. Have also prepared it many times this way for smorgasbords. Four 8-pound canned hams will feed 200 people at a buffet."

Yam Yankee Dessert A Nice Change From The Ordinary

Holiday COOK BOOK RECIPE CONTEST WINNERS 1973

From Mrs. Edna Geries, 194 Tunstead Avenue, San Anselmo

YAM YANKEE DESSERT

"In today's assembly-line food world, many menu items taste repetitious — so I try for variety by adding to, subtracting from, or combining made-from-scratch recipes. Family and guests liked the unusualness of the combined holiday flavors in this dessert when I served it last Thanksgiving."

Topping:

2 cups miniature marshmallows
½ cup milk
1 (1 lb.) can yams, drained and mashed
1 tbsp. dry sherry
1 cup (½ pint) whipping cream, whipped

In a 1 quart saucepan over low heat, melt marshmallows in milk, stirring occasionally. Add mashed yams and sherry, mixing well. Chill about 30 minutes, until thick. Fold in ½ of the whipped cream.

Bottom:

½ cup butter or margarine
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 egg, well-beaten
¾ cup "None Such" mince meat
½ tsp. grated lemon rind
2 cups sifted flour
½ tsp. baking soda
½ tsp. salt

Cream butter or margarine until fluffy. Add sugar, beating until light. Stir in beaten egg, mince meat and lemon rind. Sift together flour, soda and salt. Blend into mince meat mixture. Turn into a 13½x8¾x1¾ greased Pyrex pan, smoothing with back of wooden mixing spoon. Bake in moderate oven (350°) 25 minutes, or until inserted toothpick comes out clean.

Cool thoroughly. Top with yam topping, garnish with whipped cream. May also be garnished with chopped walnuts, if desired. Serves 12.

Holiday Chocolate Pie Might Be Just The Dish For Thanksgiving

How much tradition is involved in your Thanksgiving celebration?

Most of us have gotten away from the old-fashioned approach to Thanksgiving Day desserts which was: pies, the more the merrier. In many homes it was cranberry, mince and apple and often even more.

Holiday chocolate pie may be just what you're looking for this year. The crust is baked a day ahead, so Thursday's oven is saved for the important job of the main course.

If you are more traditionally inclined, a recipe for pumpkin pie follows:

HOLIDAY CHOCOLATE PIE

1 baked 9-inch pie shell
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
⅔ cup granulated sugar
1⅓ cups milk
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
¼ cup light molasses
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
2 squares (1 oz. each) unsweetened chocolate
½ cup heavy cream, whipped
2 egg whites
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
Sweetened whipped cream for garnish

In large saucepan, combine gelatin and ⅓ cup of the sugar. Add milk, egg yolks, molasses and cinnamon; mix well. Add chocolate. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until chocolate melts and mixture is slightly thickened. Remove from heat. Beat until chocolate is blended. Chill in refrigerator until mixture begins to jell. Fold in whipped cream.

In medium bowl, beat egg whites until soft peaks form. Gradually add the remaining ⅓ cup sugar, beating until stiff peaks form. Fold into chocolate mixture; add vanilla. Pour into baked pie shell. Chill 2 to 3 hours or until firm. Top with sweetened whipped cream, if desired.

Makes six servings.

SPICY PUMPKIN MOLASSES PIE

1 unbaked 9-inch pie shell with high fluted edge
1½ cups canned pumpkin
⅔ cug sugar
¾ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ground ginger
½ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon ground cloves
¼ cup dark molasses
1 cup evaporated milk
⅓ cup water
2 eggs, slightly beaten
Sweetened whipped cream for garnish (optional)

In large bowl, combine pumpkin, sugar, cinnamon, salt, ginger, nutmeg, cloves, molasses, milk and the water; mix well. (If time allows, cover bowl and chill filling several hours for a beautiful textured pie.) Stir in eggs. Pour filling into pie shell. Bake on bottom rack in a preheated 450-degree oven for about 40 minutes or until pie puffs across top and center is firm. Cool on wire rack. Cut into wedges. Serve with whipped cream, if desired. Six servings.

Grapes Used In Casserole To Spice Up Chicken Dish

From Jean Tyler, 15 Elm Avenue, Kentfield.

CHICKEN IN CASSEROLE WITH GRAPES

4 each thighs and drumsticks
5 tbsp butter or margarine
¼ cup minced onion
¼ cup chicken broth
¾ cup dry white table wine
½ lb. mushrooms sliced
3 tbsp. butter or margarine
2 cups seeded muscat grapes or Thompson seedless salt and pepper
flour

Sprinkle chicken pieces with salt and pepper and coat lightly with flour. Heat the 5 tablespoons butter in frying pan and quickly brown chicken on all sides. Add onion to butter in pan and cook until soft. Add chicken broth and wine; bring to boil and pour over chicken. Bake covered in 375 degree oven for 40 minutes.

Meanwhile saute mushrooms in the 3 tablespoons butter. When chicken has cooked for 40 minutes, add the mushrooms and grapes. Continue baking for 8 minutes more or until grapes are heated through. Arrange on platter or serve from chafing dish. Makes six to eight servings.

Wheat pilaf and a tossed green salad go very well with this elegant entree. This also works well as the mainstay of a buffet as can be kept warm in chafing dish.

1 cup light corn syrup
1½ teaspoons vanilla

Add salt to egg whites and beat with rotary beater until mixture forms soft peaks. Gradually add sugar, about 1 tablespoon at a time, beating until smooth and glossy. Add corn syrup, a little at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition, until frosting peaks. Fold in vanilla. Makes enough to frost top and sides of Ambrosial Chiffon Cake.

BAKING CHICKEN with bay leaves gives it a pungent flavor and festive look. The idea of cooking with this leaf is traditional in the Mediterranean. California leaves, although stronger in flavor, can be used as well as its Mediterranean cousin.

Roman Chicken Uses California Bay Leaf

The bay leaf is a traditional ingredient in Mediterranean cooking and comes from an evergreen native to the region. In California, we have the California laurel or California bay. This bay is slightly more pungent than its Mediterranean cousin and is widely used on the West Coast in recipes calling for fresh or dried bay leaves.

Here's a recipe that utilizes both fresh California bay and fresh California chicken for a pungent and interesting baked dish.

ROMAN CHICKEN

¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup lemon juice
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
1 tsp. minced garlic
4 or 5 fresh or dried bay leaves.
½ cup Madiera or dry Sherry

Melt the butter in a saucepan and mix in lemon juice, salt, pepper, garlic and bay leaves; bring to a boil. Arrange the chicken, skin-side up in a shallow pan, pour the butter-bay mixture over it, and bake at 375 degrees, basting often, for 1¼ hours, or until tender. Transfer the chicken to a serving platter. Quickly drain fat from the baking pan, add the Madiera (or Sherry) to the pan and scrape up the drippings. Heat through and pour over the chicken. Makes four servings.

Hot Canapes Popular Food To Serve Holiday Guests

HOT CANAPES

1 can (3-¾ oz.) sardines
2 tbsps. butter
1 tbsp. flour
½ cup milk
⅓ cup mayonnaise
½ tsp. vinegar
1 tbsp. chopped stuffed olives
1 tbsp. chopped sweet gherkins
1 tsp. minced onion
2 tsps. capers
6 slices white bread paprika
salt, pepper to taste
radishes, sliced (garnish)

Drain the sardines and set aside. Melt butter in top of double boiler over simmering water. Blend in flour. In a separate bowl, combine milk, mayonnaise and vinegar. Add gradually to the butter and flour, stirring constantly until mixture is smooth. Season to taste. continue to cook until mixture thickens.

Remove from heat and stir in chopped olives, gherkins, onions and capers. Toast bread lightly on one side, trim and cut into thirds. Arrange a whole sardine on each toast strip and spoon over hot sauce. Sprinkle with paprika. Broil for 5 minutes, or until canapes are lightly browned. Garnish with thin lemon slices topped with thin slices of radish. Serve piping hot. Yield: 18 large party canapes.

Holiday COOK BOOK RECIPE CONTEST WINNERS 1973

"From a book of recipes put together by the Rual Hennepin County Nursing Service of Minnesota. Whenever I am asked to bake "cookies" I always turn to this favorite and am flooded with requests for the recipe. This cookie looks so elegant that one doesn't realize the simplicity of the recipe until they receive it."

Red Wine Vinegar Helps Flavor Spiced Apples

From Patricia Foley, 27 Nova Lane, Novato

SPICED APPLE RINGS

1 cup sugar
½ cup red wine vinegar
2 long cinnamon sticks
1 tsp. whole cloves
1 tsp. whole allspice
¼ tsp. red food coloring
6 small red cooking apples, unpared

Combine water, sugar, vinegar, cinnamon sticks, cloves, allspice and food coloring in a large kettle or skillet. Bring to boiling over high heat. Simmer 5 minutes. Cut apples crosswise into ½-inch slices. Cut out core of each slice with small cutter (canape or hors d'oeuvre cutters work well). Place slices in skillet. Cook 5 minutes. Cool. Arrange slices in a serving bowl. Strain liquid into bowl. Keep refrigerated until ready to use. An excellent accompaniment to roast pork. Makes one quart.

"Terrific as a holiday giver. This is perfect for a last minute present and great to put up in a quart jar. Then, when it's needed, just take it out of the pantry."

Adding Walnuts Helps Dressing

Whether you like the dressing cooked inside the turkey or separately in a baking dish, you'll find walnuts add a distinctive accent of crunchiness and good taste.

Wonderful in old-fashioned bread-celery-onion stuffing — is a cup of chopped walnuts to each four or five cups of bread crumbs or cubes.
